NOTE 1 - BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Company

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles for interim financial information and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). The accompanying consolidated financial statements for the interim periods are unaudited and reflect all adjustments (consisting only of normal recurring adjustments) which are, in the opinion of management, necessary for a fair presentation of the financial position and operating results for the periods presented. The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly and partially owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated. These consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the financial statements for the nine months ended September 30, 2001 and notes thereto contained in the Transition Report on Form 10-KSB of Genesis Technology Group, Inc. (the "Company") as filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The results of operations for the six months ended March 31, 2002 are not necessarily indicative of the results for the full fiscal year ending September 30, 2002.

Minority interest

In August 2001, the Company acquired an 80% common stock ownership in G-Choice. At March 31, 2002, the Company reported minority interest in the balance sheet of $167,897. For financial statement reporting purposes, the assets, liabilities and earnings of G-Choice are consolidated in the Company's financial statements, and the remaining ownership of G-Choice has been recorded as "Minority Interest" in the consolidated balance sheet.

In November and December 2001, the Company acquired an 80% common stock ownership in Yastock and Zhaoli. Subsequently, the Company purchased the remaining 20% interest in Yastock for $18,000. For financial statement reporting purposes, the assets, liabilities and earnings of Yastock and Zhaoli are consolidated in the Company's financial statements.

Edgar Filing: NEWAGECITIES COM INC - Form 10-Q

NOTE 1 - BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT

Foreign currency translation

Transactions and balances originally denominated in U.S. dollars are presented at their original amounts. Transactions and balances in other currencies are converted into U.S. dollars in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 52, "Foreign Currency Translation," and are included in determining net income or loss.

For foreign operations with the local currency as the functional currency, assets and liabilities are translated from the local currencies into U.S. dollars at the exchange rate prevailing at the balance sheet date. Revenues, expenses and cash flows are translated at weighted average exchange rates for the period to approximate translation at the exchange rates prevailing at the dates those elements are recognized in the financial statements. Translation adjustments resulting from the process of translating the local currency financial statements into U.S. dollars are included in determining comprehensive loss.

The functional currency of the Company's Chinese subsidiaries is the local currency. The financial statements of the subsidiary are translated to United States dollars using period-end rates of exchange for assets and liabilities, and average rates of exchange for the period for revenues, costs, and expenses. Net gains and losses resulting from foreign exchange transactions are included in the consolidated statements of operations and were not material during the periods presented. The cumulative translation adjustment and effect of exchange rate changes on cash at March 31, 2002 was not material.

Marketable equity securities

Marketable equity securities consist of investments in equity of publicly traded and non-public domestic and foreign companies and are stated at market value based on the most recently traded price of these securities at March 31, 2002. All marketable securities are classified as available for sale at March 31, 2002. Unrealized gains and losses, determined by the difference between historical purchase price and the market value at each balance sheet date, are recorded as a component of Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income in Stockholders' Equity. Realized gains and losses are determined by the difference between historical purchase price and gross proceeds received when the marketable securities are sold.

Reclassifications

Certain prior periods' balances have been reclassified to conform to the current period's financial statement presentation. These reclassifications had no impact on previously reported results of operations or stockholders' equity (deficit).

ITEM 2.MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The following analysis of the results of operations and financial condition of the Company should be read in conjunction with the financial statements of Genesis Technology Group, Inc. for the nine months ended September 30, 2001 and notes thereto contained in the Report on Form 10-KSB of Genesis Technology Group, Inc. as filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

This report on Form 10-QSB contains forward-looking statements that are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those discussed in the forward-looking statements and from historical results of operations. Among the risks and uncertainties which could cause such a difference are those relating to our dependence upon certain key personnel, our ability to manage our growth, our success in implementing the business strategy, our success in arranging financing where required, and the risk of economic and market factors affecting us or our customers. Many of such risk factors are beyond the control of the Company and its management.

OVERVIEW

Genesis Technology Group Inc. ("Genesis" or the "Company") was formed as the result of a change in business model and management of newagecities.com, Inc., which ceased active operations at the end of June 2001. The mission of Genesis Technology Group, Inc. is to create a family of technology and service related entities, via acquisitions, partnerships and joint ventures, in which the entities build on the existing success and profitability of each other, with specific focus on the emerging markets in the Pacific Rim.

China's entrance into the World Trade Organization has provided Genesis with the opportunity to market their services to the growing niche of small to mid-size U.S. companies that wish to enter into the Chinese market, but do not have the knowledge and resources to do so cost-effectively. Genesis is marketing itself to these companies as a resource to assist in arranging marketing, distribution, forming joint ventures, or establishing a manufacturing base in China. In addition, the Company aims to play a key role in assisting small to mid-size Chinese private companies that desire growth, to expand their business with the financial and operational support of the Genesis.

The Company develops, invests in, and operates technology and service related companies in the US and China. The Corporate strategy includes the internal development and operation of subsidiaries within the Company family, as well as investment in other technology companies directly, and through a variety of venture capital arrangements. We do not expect to operate as an investment company in accordance with the investment company act of 1940, and we will limit our activities in order not to become subject to that act.

By building on the success of already successful businesses, Genesis intends to become an important player in the expanding Cross-Pacific marketplace -increasing its revenues, profitability and market value by accelerating the success of its subsidiaries and partner companies.

Genesis' strategy includes the internal development and operation of majority-owned subsidiaries within the corporate family, as well as investment in other technology companies either directly by the Company, or through other venture capital arrangements. The strategy also envisions and promotes opportunities for synergistic business relationships among the Company's subsidiaries.

ACQUISITIONS

As of the date of this filing, we have either acquired or started-up seven companies.

On August 1, 2001 we acquired Genesis Systems, Inc. of St. Paul, Minnesota. Genesis Systems provides a wide range of business and financial services for public and private companies with an emphasis on early-stage technology companies. These services include assistance in mergers and acquisitions, capital raising and financing, strategic planning, public relations and operations. Genesis Systems has established a network of strategic partners to assist in performing these services.

On August 14, 2001, we acquired 100 % of PropaMedia, Inc., a provider of media rich Web hosting and distribution services, located in Los Angeles, CA. Propamedia offers end-to-end streaming and hosting services, including content capture, encoding and production, storage, live and on-demand video and audio streaming, and managed services. PropaMedia's services can be used for video and audio distribution services to transmit entertainment, sports, news, advertising, business communications, and distance learning content. PropaMedia's technologies support all major Internet audio and video formats. PropaMedia has developed proprietary streaming technologies that increase the number of end-users able to view video content at once, improve end-users' video viewing experience, and provide clients with real-time monitoring and reporting.

On August 22, 2001, we acquired a majority interest (80%) of Shanghai G-Choice Science Development Company, Limited (G-Choice). G-Choice's business services include computer product sales, network services, software development, and systems integration. G-Choice has extensive experience in computer system engineering, and software research and development, including its popular Point of Sale software, currently sold via a network of over 4,000 distributors throughout China. G-Choice was founded in 1999 and is located in Shanghai, China; has approximately 86 employees and has recently expanded its sales network to include other areas of China.

In October 2001, we formed two subsidiaries, each of which the company owns a majority interest in. The first was Espectus Systems, Inc. Espectus is an interactive, direct marketing company, specializing in permission-based e-mail marketing, media buying, customer relationship management and online surveys. The company specializes in low cost, high return opt-in marketing campaigns for a variety of large and small companies worldwide. Genesis owns 80% of Espectus. As of March 31, 2002, operating activities from our Espectus subsidiary were immaterial.

The second subsidiary formed in October was Biosystems Technologies, Inc. Biosystems' mission is the commercialization, marketing and distribution of biomedical products and technologies used to diagnose and treat HIV/AIDS, cancer and other immune-related diseases. Biosystems seeks to harness the latest scientific discoveries to commercialize and market the potential of proprietary technologies that will form the basis of a range of new and potentially effective treatments for a variety of diseases. We own 85% of Biosystems, with the remaining 15% owned by Dr. Ronald Watson, a noted immunology professor and researcher.

Unlike traditional biotechnology companies which can spend millions of dollars on research and development of new products, Biosystems seeks unique products that are fully developed or in the final stages of development.

Edgar Filing: NEWAGECITIES COM INC - Form 10-Q

Biosystems will then attempt to commercialize and market these products via licensing agreements, with particular emphasis on introducing these products to China and the Pacific Rim. There can be no assurances that products will be acquired or developed or that Biosystems will have sufficient financial resources to bring these products to market. As of March 31, 2002, Biosystems had no material operating activity.

On November 15, 2001, we acquired 80% of Shanghai Zhaoli Technology Development Company, Limited (Zhaoli"), an Information Technology enterprise that integrates sales and technology with services. Currently, its sales cover printer, copier, scanner and network products, as well as network integration. In addition to hardware sales and service, the company focuses much of its resources on the development of proprietary software systems, such as its e-learning software for K-12 education in China. Zhaoli has approximately 65 employees at seven branches and exclusive stores in Shanghai and a strong and growing presence throughout eastern areas of China.

On December 1, 2001, we acquired 80% of Yastock Investment Consulting Company, Limited ("Yastock"), an investment consulting firm located in Shanghai, China that specializes in raising capital and consulting in a number of areas, including public relations, corporate management, corporate strategic evaluations and human resources. In addition to its ongoing business, Yastock's management will oversee all of Genesis' operations in China and will be an important source of financial and operational support for our Chinese subsidiaries. On January 1, 2002, we acquired the remaining 20% of Yastock, making it a wholly owned subsidiary. Yastock has 25 part and full-time employees.

CONSULTING ACTIVITIES

In addition to overseeing the operations of its subsidiaries, the company has been growing its cross pacific consulting business. Management believes that China's entrance into the WTO offers a unique opportunity for Genesis to secure itself a position as a leader in the growing market for cross-pacific products, technology, capital, and property exchange. To that end, the company is beginning to market itself to other U.S. firms interested in Chinese partnerships for manufacturing and distribution of a variety of products in China.

To aid in achieving its goals, the company has signed on as the only U.S. representative of the Shanghai Technology Stock (Property Rights) Exchange (STSE). STSE is a technology transfer exchange sponsored by the Shanghai Municipal Government with independent corporate qualifications. STSE is a vehicle for the transfer of technology and property rights. As a representative of the STSE, we can introduce American companies and individuals who would like to sell or license intellectual property to a Chinese partner or use technology to form a joint venture in China to the STSE for purposes of listing their technologies or intellectual properties. Companies wishing to enter the exchange pay a listing fee and a success fee based on any completed transaction. We will receive a portion of each of these fees for any company it brings to STSE.

Six months ended March 31, 2002 compared to six months ended March 31, 2001

Management has invested substantial time evaluating and considering numerous proposals for possible acquisition or combination developed by management or presented by investment professionals, the Company's advisors and others. The Company continues to consider acquisitions, business combinations, or start up proposals, which could be advantageous to shareholders. No assurance can be given that any such project, acquisition or combination will be concluded.

The Company intends to continue its trading activities and as a consequence the future financial results of the Company may be subject to substantial fluctuations. As part of the Company's investment activities the Company may sell a variety of equity or debt securities obtained as revenue for consulting services. Such investments often involve a high degree of risk and must be considered extremely speculative.

At March 31, 2002, our Company had stockholders' equity of $1,770,829. Our Company's future operations and growth will likely be dependent on our ability to raise capital for expansion and to implement our strategic plan.

Net cash provided by operations was $366,493 for the six months ended March 31, 2002 as compared to net cash used in operations of $12,500 for the six months ended March 31, 2001. We currently have no material commitments for capital expenditures. Our future growth is dependent on our ability to raise capital for expansion, and to seek additional revenue sources. If we decide to pursue any acquisition opportunities or other expansion opportunities, we may need to raise additional capital, although there can be no assurance such capital-raising activities would be successful.

OPERATING RISK

(a) Country risk

Currently, the Company's revenues are primarily derived from sale of computer equipment and accessories to customers in the Peoples Republic of China (PRC). The Company hopes to expand its operations to countries outside the PRC, however, such expansion has not been commenced and there are no assurances that the Company will be able to achieve such an expansion successfully. Therefore, a downturn or stagnation in the economic environment of the PRC could have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition.

(b) Products risk

In addition to competing with other computer and electronics equipment companies, the Company could have to compete with larger US companies who have greater funds available for expansion, marketing, research and development and the ability to attract more qualified personnel if access is allowed into the PRC market. If US companies do gain access to the PRC markets, it may be able to offer products at a lower price. There can be no assurance that the Company will remain competitive should this occur.

(c) Exchange risk

The Company generates revenue and incurs expenses and liabilities in Chinese renminbi and U.S. dollars. As a result, the Company is subject to the effects of exchange rate fluctuations with respect to any of these currencies. For example, the value of the renminbi depends to a large extent on PRC's domestic and international economic and political developments, as well as supply and demand in the local market. Since 1994, the official exchange rate for the conversion of renminbi to U.S. dollars has generally been stable and the renminbi has appreciated slightly against the U.S. dollar. However, given recent economic instability and currency fluctuations, the Company can offer no assurance that the renminbi will continue to remain stable against the U.S. dollar or any other foreign currency. The Company's results of operations and financial condition may be affected by changes in the value of renminbi and other currencies in which its earnings and obligations are denominated. The Company has not entered into agreements or purchased instruments to hedge its exchange rate risks, although the Company may do so in the future.

Although Chinese governmental policies were introduced in 1996 to allow the convertibility of renminbi into foreign currency for current account items, conversion of renminbi into foreign exchange for capital items, such as foreign direct investment, loans or security, requires the approval of the State Administration of Foreign Exchange, or SAFE, which is under the authority of the People's Bank of China. These approvals, however, do not guarantee the availability of foreign currency. The Company cannot be sure that the Company will be able to obtain all required conversion approvals for its operations or that Chinese regulatory authorities will not impose greater restrictions on the convertibility of the renminbi in the future. Because a significant amount of its revenues are in the form of renminbi, its inability to obtain the requisite approvals or any future restrictions on currency exchanges will limit its ability to utilize revenue generated in renminbi to fund its business activities outside PRC.

(d) Political risk

Currently, PRC is in a period of growth and is openly promoting business development in order to bring more business into PRC. Additionally PRC allows a Chinese corporation to be owned by the United States corporation. If the PRC government changes the laws or regulations, the Company's ability to operate the PRC subsidiaries could be affected.

(e) Our future performance is dependent on its ability to retain key personnel

Our performance is substantially dependent on the performance of our senior management. In particular, the Company's success depends on the continued effort of our Chief Executive Officer, James Wang, to maintain all contact with our Chinese subsidiaries. The Company's inability to retain James Wang could have a material adverse effect on our prospects, businesses, Chinese operations, financial conditions and share price.

Part II - OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

Master Financial Group, Inc. v Genesis Systems, Inc. (Court File No. 62-C7-01-000832) was filed on February 14, 2000, against Genesis Systems, Inc., a subsidiary of Genesis Technology Group, in the County of Ramsey, Minnesota, seeking to rescind a stock subscription agreement made with Genesis Systems, Inc. This agreement calls for a total subscription to purchase shares of the Company's stock in the amount of $1,000,000. The payments were to be made in four equal installments; to date the Company has received $250,000. The Company believes that this suit is without merit and intends to vigorously contest the action. Management does not believe this suit will have any material impact on the company business and financial performance. Other than that, we are not a party to any material legal proceeding, nor are any of our officers, directors or affiliates a party adverse to us in any legal or regulatory proceeding.

In connection with these options, the company recorded consulting expense amounting to $32,550.

In March 2002, 92,000 options were granted to an employee with an exercise price of $.35 per share. The Company accounts for stock options issued to employees in accordance with the provisions of Accounting Principles Board ("APB") Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees," and related interpretations. As such, compensation cost is measured on the date of grant as the excess of the current market price of the underlying stock over the exercise price. Since the exercise price was greater than the current market value at the date of grant, no compensation expense has been recognized.

In March 2002, the Company entered into 12 month consulting agreements and granted an aggregate of 2,000,000 stock options (1,000,000 each) to two consultants for business development and marketing services. These options were granted with an exercise price of $.33 per shares and expire on September 30, 2002. The fair value of each option grant was estimated on the date of grant using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model with the following weighted-average assumptions dividend yield of -0- percent; expected volatility ranging of 108 percent; risk-free interest rate of 5.00 percent and an expected holding periods of one-half a year. In connection with these options, the company recorded deferred compensation expense of $176,000, which is being amortized into consulting expense over the term of the option.

We do not expect to operate as an investment company in accordance with the investment company act of 1940, and we will limit our activities in order not to become subject to that act.
