No. 01	RNS Announcement, re: Update dated 2nd July 2003

2 July 2003

BRITISH ENERGY

Edgar Filing: BRITISH ENERGY PLC - Form 6-K

As announced in its preliminary statement last month, British Energy is developing programmes to underpin the long-term viability of the Company.

As part of its drive for enhanced operational effectiveness and reduced costs, the Company has concluded that it can no longer maintain two large office complexes, one of which (Peel Park, East Kilbride) contains a mixture of operational support staff and a variety of Corporate functions.

It is therefore proposed that 150 operational jobs based in Peel Park are transferred to Barnwood, Gloucester to be integrated into the Company's major operational and engineering support base. Consolidation in Peel Park would not be practical since there are almost three times as many Barnwood staff based in these functions.

Simultaneously the Corporate headquarters functions will be restructured, commensurate with the change of the Company's remit to a UK rather than an international electricity generator. British Energy's headquarters and head office will remain in Scotland, but at a smaller office yet to be identified. Peel Park will therefore be closed.

The Chairman, Chief Executive and other corporate directors will continue to have their principal offices at the new location along with the headquarters staff including the Finance, Legal and HR functions. British Energy will therefore remain a major employer in Scotland with over 1,000 staff based at its two power stations and corporate offices.

It is regretted that as a result of this proposal some 80 jobs may be lost. The Company is commencing a process of consultation with staff and their representatives.
