To all ScanSoft and Nuance employees,

As you saw in today's update from Paul and Chuck, we are moving forward on our integration planning and would like to provide an update on the progress of the ScanSoft and Nuance R&D integration efforts. This three-month process will take place over the summer as we work to understand, analyze, and map out our plans and roadmaps for the product lines of the combined company. These plans will be shared broadly upon closing.

To begin this process, we have formed a R&D integration leadership group that includes Doug Sharp and Larry Heck on the Nuance side, and Mike Phillips, Vlad Sejnoha, and Jeanne McCann on the ScanSoft side. Specific sub-teams for topics are being identified and will be communicated in the coming weeks. We plan the initial two-way information briefings, or discovery phase of the integration, to start this week and to continue through June.

Although our combined future is important, it is paramount that we not lose sight of our current obligations and projects. As with other areas of the business, we'll continue to conduct business as usual, paying particular attention to maintaining our current work on products and customer needs at both companies and limiting the integration work to a small number of people.

While we do not expect to have all of the R&D structural or organizational decisions made or communicated until closing, there is one important, exciting announcement I want to communicate today. Upon closing, Doug Sharp from Nuance will become the vice president of the network speech recognition and directory assistance R&D efforts for the combined company. We are pleased that Doug, with a strong track record and more than 15 years of experience in the network speech business, will lead our network speech efforts, and I personally am delighted to have the opportunity to work with Doug.

As part of the combined organization, Nils Lenke and the ScanSoft directory assistance R&D teams, as well as the current ScanSoft network ASR R&D teams will report to Doug upon closing. Likewise, we are pleased to announce that, on closing Guido Gallopin will be providing his full focus on our now expanding dictation and transcription efforts as vice president of Dragon R&D. Guido and Doug will work together over the coming months toward the integrated company R&D plans.

We appreciate the ongoing efforts of the teams from ScanSoft and Nuance during this integration period to construct the plans for the new combined company and take the necessary steps toward preserving and extending our technical excellence.

Thank you all as we deliver the present and plan for the future!

Jeanne
