Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On December 20, 2005, Maxtor Corporation, a Delaware corporation ("Maxtor"), entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the "Merger Agreement") with Seagate Technology, an exempted company incorporated with limited liability under the laws of the Cayman Islands ("Seagate"), and MD Merger Corporation, a Delaware corporation and a direct wholly-owned subsidiary of Seagate ("Merger Sub"), by which Seagate has agreed to acquire Maxtor (the "Merger"). The Merger Agreement has been unanimously approved by the Boards of Directors of both Maxtor and Seagate.

Subject to the terms and conditions of the Merger Agreement, at the effective time of the Merger, each issued and outstanding share of common stock of Maxtor would be converted into the right to receive 0.37 shares of Seagate common stock. The merger is intended to qualify as a tax-free reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

Consummation of the Merger is subject to several closing conditions, including the adoption of the Merger Agreement by the stockholders of Maxtor, the approval of the issuance of shares of Seagate common stock in the Merger by the stockholders of Seagate, the receipt of antitrust approvals or the expiration of applicable waiting periods in certain jurisdictions set forth in Exhibit A to the Merger Agreement, the absence of certain governmental restraints, and effectiveness of a Form S-4 registration statement to be filed by Seagate.

The Merger Agreement contains certain termination rights for both Maxtor and Seagate and provides that a specified fee must be paid by one party to the other in connection with certain termination events. In certain specified circumstances, Seagate must pay Maxtor a termination fee of $300 million (generally in the event necessary antitrust approval is not obtained or governmental regulatory restraints prevent the transaction, or the transaction has not been consummated prior to March 20, 2007, with certain exceptions if the Maxtor stockholders have not adopted the Merger Agreement). In other specified circumstances, Maxtor must pay Seagate a termination fee of $53 million (generally in the event the Board of Directors of Maxtor changes its recommendation that its stockholders adopt the Merger Agreement, or elects to pursue an alternative acquisition proposal from a third party).

Concurrently with the execution of the Merger Agreement, Maxtor entered into voting agreements (the "Voting Agreements") with the directors and certain executive officers of Seagate and with certain significant stockholders of Seagate, pursuant to which such signatories have agreed to vote in favor of the issuance of shares of Seagate common stock in the Merger. The Voting Agreements apply to all shares of Seagate common stock held by the signatories at the record date for the relevant Seagate shareholder meeting. The Voting Agreements restrict private transfers of shares by the signatories (unless they retain the voting power), but do not prevent the signatories from selling their shares of Seagate common stock in open market transactions, and will not continue to apply to any shares that are sold in the open market prior to the record date.

A copy of the Merger Agreement and the form of Voting Agreement (along with a schedule of the Seagate shareholders who are signatories) are attached hereto as Exhibits 2.1 and 10.1, respectively. The foregoing description of the Merger Agreement and the Voting Agreement is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Merger Agreement and the Voting Agreement.
