PROSPECTUS SUPPLEMENT SUMMARY

This summary highlights information contained elsewhere in this prospectus supplement, the accompanying prospectus and the documents incorporated by reference in the accompanying prospectus. You should read the following summary together with the more detailed information appearing in this prospectus supplement, the accompanying prospectus and the documents incorporated by reference, including our consolidated financial statements and related notes and risk factors, before deciding whether to purchase shares of our Class A common stock. Dolby Laboratories, Inc.

Dolby Laboratories develops and delivers innovative products and technologies that make the entertainment experience more realistic and immersive. Since Ray Dolby founded Dolby Laboratories in 1965, we have been at the forefront of delivering sound technologies that are employed throughout the entertainment creation, distribution and playback process to enhance the entertainment experience. Today, Dolby technologies are standard in a wide range of entertainment platforms. Dolby products are used in movie theatres around the world. Our technologies are incorporated in virtually all DVD players and personal computer DVD playback software, increasingly in digital televisions and portable electronic devices and also in a wide array of consumer electronic products such as gaming systems and audio/video receivers.

Our objective is to be an essential element in the best entertainment technologies by delivering to both professionals and consumers innovative and enduring technologies that enrich the entertainment experience. We believe our widely recognized brand and our participation at each critical stage of the entertainment chain position us well both to expand the use of our technologies in existing markets and to facilitate our entry into related new markets.

Our core technologies are signal processing systems that improve sound quality and enable surround sound in movie soundtracks, DVDs, video games and television, satellite and cable broadcasts. We deliver products, services and technologies to participants at each stage of the entertainment chain content creation, content distribution and content playback.

Content Creation At the content creation stage, our technologies improve the quality of sound while enabling it to fit within the storage capacity and distribution limitations of the particular format or platform. We help content creators, including filmmakers, television producers, music producers and video game designers, incorporate Dolby technologies in their entertainment content to create more realistic and immersive sound experiences.

Content Distribution As a result of our relationships with content creators, we believe we are well positioned to collaborate with content distributors in delivering entertainment content encoded with our technologies, whether through 35 millimeter film or digital content for theatres, DVDs, broadcasts or the Internet. For example, Dolby Digital is one of the two global standard formats, along with PCM, approved by the DVD Forum for encoding soundtracks on DVD-Video discs.

Content Playback Once entertainment content has been encoded and distributed with Dolby technologies, we license our decoding technologies to consumer electronics manufacturers and independent software vendors so that they can enable consumer playback. We also sell our professional cinema equipment to movie theatres. Virtually all DVD players incorporate our Dolby Digital decoding technology in order to decode soundtracks on DVD-Video discs. Our technology has also been chosen as a standard audio format for next-generation DVD players.

The majority of our revenue is derived from licensing our technologies to manufacturers of consumer electronics products and developers of PC software. Our licensing arrangements typically entitle us to receive a specified royalty for every product shipped by our licensees, including DVD products, audio/video receivers, television sets, video game consoles, personal computers, in-car entertainment systems, portable electronic devices and other consumer electronics products. We also generate revenue by selling our professional products and related production services. We design, manufacture and sell these professional audio products for the motion picture, broadcast, music and video game industries to improve sound quality, provide surround sound and increase the efficiency of sound storage and distribution. The majority of our professional product revenue is derived from sales of cinema processors, which movie theatres use to decode and play film soundtracks.

We believe we are well positioned to benefit from key trends in digital entertainment, including the continuing transition to digital cinema and sales of high-definition televisions, next generation gaming systems and portable media consumer products, as well as the continued diversification of digital media delivery mediums. The global entertainment industry is in the midst of a continued migration from analog to digital technologies, which is driving an increase in demand for new types of digital audio and video technologies that enhance the entertainment experience. Digital media products, such as DVD players, HDTV, multimedia personal computers, portable music players and next generation gaming systems, are rapidly adopting advanced digital audio and video technologies. In addition, distribution mediums such as digital broadcast TV, digital cable and the Internet have driven the broader adoption of digital audio and video technologies.

To capitalize on these trends and be an essential element in the best entertainment technologies, our strategy includes the following key elements:

expanding the use of our technologies in existing and new markets;

developing technologies for the entertainment industry beyond sound, including video;

building on the strength of the Dolby brand;

developing system solutions for digital cinema;

continuing to address the needs of industry professionals; and continuing to promote adoption of our technologies in industry standards.

CERTAIN UNITED STATES FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS FOR NON-UNITED STATES HOLDERS

The following is a general discussion of certain U.S. federal income and estate tax considerations with respect to the acquisition, ownership and disposition of shares of our Class A common stock applicable to non-U.S. holders. In general, a non-U.S. holder is any holder other than:

a citizen or resident of the United States;

a corporation created or organized in or under the laws of the United States or any political subdivision thereof;

an estate, the income of which is includible in gross income for U.S. federal income tax purposes regardless of its source; or a trust if (a) a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust or (b) it has a valid election in effect under applicable U.S. Treasury regulations to be treated as a United States person.

Generally, an individual may be treated as a resident of the United States in any calendar year for U.S. federal income tax purposes by, among other ways, being present in the United States for at least 31 days in that calendar year and for an aggregate of at least 183 days during a three-year period ending in the current calendar year. For purposes of this calculation, the individual would count all of the days in which he or she was present in the current year, one-third of the days present in the immediately preceding year, and one-sixth of the days present in the second preceding year. Residents are taxed for U.S. federal income tax purposes as if they were citizens of the United States.

This discussion is based on current provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended; final, temporary or proposed U.S. Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder; judicial opinions; published positions of the Internal Revenue Service; and other applicable authorities, all of which are subject to change (possibly with retroactive effect). We assume in this discussion that a non-U.S. holder holds shares of our Class A common stock as a capital asset (generally, property held for investment).

This discussion does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income and estate taxation that may be important to a particular non-U.S. holder in light of that non-U.S. holder's individual circumstances, nor does it address any aspects of U.S. state, local or non-U.S. taxes. This discussion also does not consider any specific facts or circumstances that may apply to a non-U.S. holder subject to special treatment under the U.S. federal income tax laws, including without limitation:

banks, insurance companies or other financial institutions;

partnerships;

tax-exempt organizations;

tax-qualified retirement plans;

Edgar Filing: Dolby Laboratories, Inc. - Form 424B7

dealers in securities or currencies;

traders in securities that elect to use a mark-to-market method of accounting for their securities holdings;

certain U.S. expatriates; and persons that will hold our Class A common stock as a position in a hedging transaction, integrated transaction, straddle or conversion transaction for tax purposes.

Accordingly, we urge prospective investors to consult with their own tax advisors regarding the U.S. federal, state, local and non-U.S. income and other tax considerations of acquiring, holding and disposing of shares of our Class A common stock.

If a partnership holds shares of our common stock, the tax treatment of a partner will generally depend upon the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. Any partner in a partnership holding shares of our common stock should consult its own tax advisors.

Dividends

We do not expect to pay any cash dividends for the foreseeable future. However, in general, dividends we pay, if any, to a non-U.S. holder will be subject to U.S. withholding tax at a rate of 30% of the gross amount. The withholding tax might not apply or might apply at a reduced rate under the terms of an applicable income tax treaty between the United States and the non-U.S. holder's country of residence. A non-U.S. holder must demonstrate its entitlement to treaty benefits by certifying, among other things, its nonresident status. A non-U.S. holder generally can meet this certification requirement by providing an Internal Revenue Service Form W-8BEN or appropriate substitute form to us or our paying agent. Also, special rules apply if the dividends are effectively connected with a trade or business carried on by the non-U.S. holder within the United States and, if a treaty applies, are attributable to a permanent establishment of the non-U.S. holder within the United States. Dividends effectively connected with this U.S. trade or business, and, if a treaty applies, attributable to such a permanent establishment of a non-U.S. holder, generally will not be subject to U.S. withholding tax if the non-U.S. holder files certain forms, including Internal Revenue Service Form W-8ECI (or any successor form) with the payor of the dividend, and generally will be subject to U.S. federal income tax on a net income basis in the same manner as if the non-U.S. holder were a resident of the United States. A non-U.S. holder that is a corporation may be subject to an additional branch profits tax at a rate of 30% (or at a reduced rate as may be specified by an applicable income tax treaty) on the repatriation from the United States of its effectively connected earnings and profits, subject to certain adjustments. A non-U.S. holder of shares of our Class A common stock eligible for a reduced rate of U.S. withholding tax pursuant to an income tax treaty may obtain a refund of any excess amounts withheld by filing an appropriate claim for refund with the Internal Revenue Service.

Gain on Sale or Other Disposition of Common Stock

In general, a non-U.S. holder will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax on any gain realized upon the sale or other disposition of the holder's shares of our Class A common stock unless:

the gain is effectively connected with a trade or business carried on by the non-U.S. holder within the United States and, if required by an applicable income tax treaty as a condition to subjecting a non-U.S. holder to United States income tax on a net basis, the gain is attributable to a permanent establishment of the non-U.S. holder maintained in the United States, in which case a non-U.S. holder will be subject to U.S. federal income tax on any gain realized upon the sale or other disposition on a net income basis in the same manner as if the non-U.S. holder were a resident of the United States. Furthermore, the branch profits tax discussed above may also apply if the non-U.S. holder is a corporation;

the non-U.S. holder is an individual and is present in the United States for 183 days or more in the taxable year of disposition and certain other tests are met, in which case a non-U.S. holder will be subject to a flat 30% tax on any gain realized upon the sale or other disposition, which tax may be offset by United States source capital losses (even though the individual is not considered a resident of the United States);

the non-U.S. holder is subject to tax pursuant to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code regarding the taxation of U.S. expatriates; or we are or have been a U.S. real property holding corporation, or USRPHC, for U.S. federal income tax purposes at any time within the shorter of the five-year period preceding the disposition or the non-U.S. holder's holding period. We do not believe that we are or have been a USRPHC, and we do not anticipate becoming a USRPHC. If we have been a USRPHC in the past or were to become one at any time during this period, generally gains realized upon a disposition of shares of our Class A common stock by a non-U.S. holder that did not directly or indirectly own more than 5% of our Class A common stock during this period would not be subject to U.S. federal income tax, provided that our common stock is regularly traded on an established securities market (within the meaning of Section 897(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code).

U.S. Federal Estate Tax

Shares of our Class A common stock that are owned or treated as owned by an individual who is not a citizen or resident (as defined for U.S. federal estate tax purposes) of the United States at the time of death will be includible in the individual's gross estate for U.S. federal estate tax purposes, unless an applicable estate tax treaty provides otherwise, and therefore may be subject to U.S. federal estate tax.

Backup Withholding, Information Reporting and Other Reporting Requirements

Generally, we must report annually to the Internal Revenue Service and to each non-U.S. holder the amount of dividends, if any, paid to, and the tax withheld with respect to, such non-U.S. holder. These reporting requirements apply regardless of whether the withholding was reduced or eliminated by an applicable tax treaty. Copies of this information also may be made available under the provisions of a specific treaty or agreement with the tax authorities in the country in which the non-U.S. holder resides or is established.

U.S. backup withholding tax is imposed (at a current rate of 28%) on certain payments to persons that fail to furnish the information required under the U.S. information reporting requirements. A non-U.S. holder of shares of our Class A common stock will be subject to this backup withholding tax on dividends we pay, if any, unless the holder certifies, under penalty of perjury, among other things, its status as a non-U.S. holder (and we or our paying agent do not have actual knowledge or reason to know the holder is a United States person) or otherwise establishes an exemption.

Under U.S. Treasury regulations, the payment of proceeds from the disposition of shares of our Class A common stock by a non-U.S. holder made to or through a U.S. office of a broker generally will be subject to information reporting and backup withholding unless the beneficial owner certifies, under penalty of perjury, among other things, its status as a non-U.S. holder (and we or our paying agent do not have actual knowledge or reason to know the holder is a United States person) or otherwise establishes an exemption. The payment of proceeds from the disposition of shares of our Class A common stock by a non-U.S. holder made to or through a non-U.S. office of a broker generally will not be subject to backup withholding and information reporting, except as noted below. In the case of proceeds from a disposition of shares of our Class A common stock by a non-U.S. holder made to or through a non-U.S. office of a broker that is:

a U.S. person;

a controlled foreign corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes;

a foreign person 50% or more of whose gross income from certain periods is effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business; or a foreign partnership, if at any time during its tax year (a) one or more of its partners are U.S. persons who, in the aggregate, hold more than 50% of the income or capital interests of the partnership or (b) the foreign partnership is engaged in a U.S. trade or business;

information reporting (but not backup withholding) will apply unless the broker has documentary evidence in its files that the owner is a non-U.S. holder and certain other conditions are satisfied, or the beneficial owner otherwise establishes an exemption (and the broker has no actual knowledge or reason to know to the contrary).

Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Any amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules from a payment to a non-U.S. holder can be refunded or credited against the non-U.S. holder's U.S. federal income tax liability, if any, provided that the required information is furnished to the Internal Revenue Service in a timely manner.

THE FOREGOING DISCUSSION OF CERTAIN U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS IS FOR GENERAL INFORMATION ONLY AND IS NOT TAX ADVICE. ACCORDINGLY, EACH PROSPECTIVE HOLDER OF SHARES OF OUR CLASS A COMMON STOCK SHOULD CONSULT HIS, HER OR ITS OWN TAX ADVISER WITH RESPECT TO THE FEDERAL, STATE, LOCAL AND FOREIGN TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE ACQUISITION, OWNERSHIP AND DISPOSITION OF OUR CLASS A COMMON STOCK.

the filing by us of any registration statement on Form S-8 or Form S-8/S-3 for the registration of shares of Class A or Class B common stock issued pursuant to stock option or stock purchase plans described in the third bullet point of this paragraph;

transfers by any person other than us of shares of Class A or Class B common stock or any securities convertible into Class A or Class B common stock as a gift or by will or intestacy;

transfers by any person other than us of shares of Class A or Class B common stock to any trust for the direct or indirect benefit of the transferor or the immediate family of the transferor, or, in the case of any transfer by the selling stockholder or by Ray Dolby or certain of his affiliates, to any member of Ray Dolby's immediate family or to any trust for the direct or indirect, sole or partial, benefit of Ray Dolby or Ray Dolby's immediate family;

transfers by any person other than us of shares of Class A common stock pursuant to the terms of a written plan in effect on the date of this prospectus supplement and meeting the requirements of Rule 10b5-1 (Rule 10b5-1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 relating to the sale of shares of Class A common stock; or transfers of up to 30,000 shares of Class A common stock each by our non-employee directors and by two specified executive officers who do not have plans pursuant to Rule 10b5-1 relating to the sale of our stock in effect as of the date of this prospectus supplement; provided that, in the case of the transactions described in the sixth and seventh bullet points above, each donee or transferee agrees to be subject to the applicable restrictions described in the immediately preceding paragraph, subject to the applicable exceptions described above in this paragraph. In addition, notwithstanding the restrictions described in the preceding paragraph, the persons (other than us) subject to those restrictions may at any time enter into a written plan meeting the requirement of Rule 10b5-1 (a New 10b5-1 Plan) or amend an existing plan meeting the requirements of Rule 10b5-1 (an Amended 10b5-1 Plan) relating to the purchase or sale of Class A or Class B common stock, if then permitted by us, provided that the shares of Class A and Class B common stock subject to any such New 10b5-1 Plan may not be sold until after completion of the 90 day lock-up period and, until after completion of the 90 day lock-up period, no shares of Class A or Class B common stock may be sold under any Amended 10b5-1 Plan except for shares of Class A common stock that are sold in amounts and at times that would have been permitted pursuant to such plan prior to giving effect to such amendment and in accordance with the eighth bullet point above.

In connection with the offering, the underwriters may purchase and sell shares of Class A common stock in the open market. These transactions may include short sales, stabilizing transactions and purchases to cover positions created by short sales. Short sales involve the sale by the underwriters of a greater number of shares than they are required to purchase in the offering. Covered short sales are sales made in an amount not greater than the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares from the selling stockholder in the offering. The underwriters may close out any covered short position by either exercising their option to purchase additional shares or purchasing shares in the open market. In determining the source of shares to close out the covered short position, the underwriters will consider, among other things, the price of shares available for purchase in the open market as compared to the price at which they may purchase additional shares pursuant to the option granted to them. Naked short sales are any sales in excess of such option. The underwriters must close out any naked short position by purchasing shares in the open market. A naked short position is more likely to be created if the underwriters are concerned that there may be downward pressure on the price of the Class A common stock in the open market after pricing that could adversely affect investors who purchase in the offering. Stabilizing transactions consist of various bids for or purchases of Class A common stock made by the underwriters in the open market prior to the completion of the offering.

The underwriters may also impose a penalty bid. This occurs when a particular underwriter repays to the underwriters a portion of the underwriting discount received by it because the representatives have repurchased shares sold by or for the account of such underwriter in stabilizing or short covering transactions.

Purchases to cover a short position and stabilizing transactions, as well as other purchases by the underwriters for their own accounts, may have the effect of preventing or retarding a decline in the market price of our Class A common stock and, together with the imposition of a penalty bid, may stabilize, maintain or otherwise affect the market price of the Class A common stock. As a result, the price of the Class A common stock may be higher than the price that otherwise might exist in the open market. If these activities are commenced, they may be discontinued at any time. These transactions may be effected on the New York Stock Exchange, in the over-the-counter market or otherwise.

We and the selling stockholder estimate that our shares of the total expenses of the offering, excluding underwriting discounts and commissions, will be approximately $675,000 and $150,000, respectively.

We and the selling stockholder have agreed to indemnify the several underwriters against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act of 1933.

Certain of the underwriters and their respective affiliates have, from time to time, performed, currently perform and may in the future perform various financial advisory and investment and commercial banking services for us, for which they received or may receive fees and expenses.

Our Class A common stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol DLB.

(d) in any other circumstances which do not require the publication by the issuer of a prospectus pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Directive.

For the purposes of this provision, the expression an offer of shares to the public in relation to any shares in any Relevant Member State means the communication in any form and by any means of sufficient information on the terms of the offer and the shares to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe the shares, as the same may be varied in that Relevant Member State by any measure implementing the Prospectus Directive in that Relevant Member State; and the expression Prospectus Directive means Directive 2003/71/EC and includes any relevant implementing measure in each Relevant Member State.

RISK FACTORS

Please carefully consider the following risk factors and the risks discussed under the caption Risk Factors in Part II, Item 1A of our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for our fiscal quarter ended March 30, 2007, as well as the other risks described in the documents incorporated by reference in this prospectus. If any of the risks described below or in the documents incorporated by reference in this prospectus actually occur, our business, operating results and financial condition and the market price of our Class A common stock could be materially adversely affected. The risks and uncertainties described below and in the documents incorporated by reference in this prospectus are not the only ones we face. Additional risks and uncertainties not currently known to us or that we currently deem less significant may also impair our business operations and financial condition.

For the foreseeable future, Ray Dolby or his affiliates will be able to control the selection of all members of our board of directors, as well as virtually every other matter that requires stockholder approval, which will severely limit the ability of other stockholders to influence corporate matters.

At March 30, 2007, Ray Dolby and his affiliates owned 100 shares of our Class A common stock and 68,000,000 shares of our Class B common stock. As of March 30, 2007, Ray Dolby and his affiliates, including his family members, had voting power over approximately 98% of our outstanding Class B common stock, which in the aggregate represented approximately 93% of the combined voting power of our outstanding Class A and Class B common stock. Assuming that the selling stockholder, which is an affiliate of Ray Dolby, sells all of the shares of Class A common stock offered hereby, which shares will be issued upon the automatic conversion at the time of such sale of a like number of outstanding shares of Class B common stock held by the selling stockholder, then, after giving effect to such sale and based upon shares outstanding as of March 30, 2007, Ray Dolby and his affiliates would have owned 100 shares of our Class A common stock and 60,000,000 shares of our Class B common stock, representing approximately 98% of our outstanding Class B common stock, which in the aggregate would have given Ray Dolby and his affiliates, including his family members, approximately 91% of the combined voting power of our outstanding Class A and Class B common stock. Under our certificate of incorporation, holders of Class B common stock are entitled to ten votes per share, while holders of Class A common stock are entitled to one vote per share. Generally, and as described below under Description of Capital Stock Common Stock Conversion, shares of Class B common stock automatically convert into shares of Class A common stock upon transfer of such Class B common stock, other than transfers to certain specified persons and entities, including the spouse and descendants of Ray Dolby and the spouses and domestic partners of such descendants. Because of this dual class structure, Ray Dolby, his affiliates, his family members and descendants will, for the foreseeable future and even if the selling stockholder sells all of the shares offered hereby, have significant influence over our management and affairs, and will be able to control virtually all matters requiring stockholder approval, including the election of directors and significant corporate transactions such as mergers or sales of our company or assets. Ray Dolby, his affiliates, his family members and descendants will maintain this control even if in the future they come to own considerably less than 50% of the total number of outstanding shares of our Class A and Class B common stock. Moreover, these persons may take actions in their own interests that you or our other stockholders do not view as beneficial. Absent a transfer of Class B common stock that would trigger an automatic conversion as described above, there is no threshold or time deadline at which the shares of Class B common stock will automatically convert into shares of Class A common stock. Assuming conversion of all shares of Class B common stock held by persons not affiliated with Ray Dolby into shares of Class A common stock, so long as Ray Dolby, his affiliates, his family members and descendants continue to hold shares of Class B common stock representing approximately 10% or more of the total number of outstanding shares of our Class A and Class B common stock, they will hold a majority of the combined voting power of the Class A and Class B common stock.

Holder of our Class A common stock, which is the stock the selling stockholder is selling in this offering, are entitled to one vote per share, and holders of our Class B common stock are entitled to ten votes per share. The lower voting power of the Class A common stock may negatively affect the attractiveness of our Class A common stock to investors and, as a result, its market value.

We have two classes of common stock: Class A common stock, which is the stock held by the general public and the stock the selling stockholder is selling in this offering, and which is entitled to one vote per share; and Class B common stock, which is held primarily by Ray Dolby and his affiliates, including the selling stockholder, and which is entitled to ten votes per share. Except in certain limited circumstances required by applicable law or provided in our certificate of incorporation, holders of Class A common stock and Class B common stock vote together as a single class on all matters to be voted on by our stockholders. As of March 30, 2007, 69,253,168 shares of Class B common stock were outstanding. Therefore, as of March 30, 2007, approximately 95% of the total combined voting power of our outstanding shares of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock was held by the Class B common stockholders. The shares of Class A common stock that the selling stockholder may sell pursuant to this prospectus will be issued upon the automatic conversion, at the time of such sale, of a like number of shares of Class B common stock owned by the selling stockholder. Thus, as of March 30, 2007, assuming that the selling stockholder sells all of the shares of Class A common stock offered hereby, approximately 93% of the total voting power of our outstanding shares would have been held by the Class B common stockholders. Accordingly, our Class B common stockholders hold, and are expected to continue to hold, a significant portion of the voting power of our stock on all matters requiring approval by our stockholders. The difference in the voting power of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock could diminish the market value of our Class A common stock to the extent investors attribute value to the superior voting rights of our Class B common stock and the power those rights confer. Absent a transfer that would trigger automatic conversion of Class B common stock into Class A common stock as described below under Description of Capital Stock Common Stock Conversion, there is no threshold or time deadline at which the shares of Class B common stock will automatically convert into shares of Class A common stock.

Provisions in our charter documents and under Delaware law could discourage a takeover that stockholders may consider favorable.

Provisions in our certificate of incorporation and bylaws, which we sometimes refer to collectively as our charter documents, may have the effect of delaying or preventing a change of control or changes in our management, even if those changes might be favorable to or desired by our stockholders. These provisions include the following:

Our certificate of incorporation provides for a dual class common stock structure. As a result of this structure, Ray Dolby and his affiliates, family members and descendants will have control for the foreseeable future over virtually all matters requiring stockholder approval, including the election of directors and significant corporate transactions, such as a merger or sale of our company or our assets. This concentrated control could discourage others from initiating any potential merger, takeover or other change of control transaction that our other stockholders may view as beneficial.

Our board of directors has the sole right to elect a director to fill a vacancy created by the expansion of the board of directors or the resignation, death or removal of a director, which prevents stockholders from being able to fill vacancies on our board of directors.

After such time as the holders of our Class B common stock hold less than a majority of the combined voting power of our outstanding shares of Class A and Class B common stock, our stockholders may not act by written consent. As a result, after such time a holder or holders controlling a majority of the combined voting power of our outstanding shares of Class A and

Class B common stock would not be able to take certain actions except at a stockholders' meeting.

Our charter documents prohibit cumulative voting in the election of directors. This limits the ability of holders of Class A common stock and minority stockholders to elect director candidates.

Stockholders must provide advance notice to nominate individuals for election to the board of directors or to propose matters to be acted upon at a stockholders' meeting. These provisions may discourage or deter a potential acquiror from conducting a solicitation of proxies to elect the acquiror's own slate of directors or otherwise attempting to obtain control of us.

Our certificate of incorporation provides that, unless otherwise required by law, special meetings of stockholders may be called only by the chairman of the board, the chief executive officer, the president or the board of directors acting pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the board members. A stockholder may not call a special meeting, which may delay or inhibit the ability of our stockholders to force consideration of a proposal or of holders controlling a majority of our capital stock to take action, including the removal of directors.

As a Delaware corporation, we are also subject to certain Delaware anti-takeover provisions. Under Delaware law, a corporation may, in general, not engage in a business combination with any holder of 15% or more of its capital stock unless the holder has held the stock for three years or, among other things, the board of directors has approved the transaction or the transaction by which the holder obtains his 15% or more ownership of our capital stock.

Future sales of shares by insiders could cause our stock price to decline.

If our founder, officers, directors or employees sell, or indicate an intention to sell, substantial amounts of our Class A common stock in the public market, including shares of Class A common stock issuable upon conversion of shares of Class B common stock, the trading price of our Class A common stock could decline. As of March 30, 2007, we had a total of 109,301,988 shares of Class A and Class B common stock outstanding. As of March 30, 2007, our directors and executive officers beneficially held 68,752,456 shares of Class B common stock, 5,064 shares of Class A common stock, vested options to purchase 543,337 shares of Class B common stock and vested options to purchase 133,748 shares of Class A common stock.

DIVIDEND POLICY

We have never declared or paid any cash dividends on our capital stock and do not expect to pay any cash dividends in the foreseeable future. However, if we are deemed to be a personal holding company for U.S. federal income tax purposes, we may elect to pay a dividend to our stockholders in an amount equal to all or a significant part of our undistributed personal holding company income (which could be significant), rather than paying personal holding company tax on such undistributed personal holding company income. See Risk Factors It is possible that we may be treated as a personal holding company, which could adversely affect our operating results and financial condition appearing under the caption Risk Factors in Part II, Item 1A in our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter ended March 30, 2007, incorporated by reference herein, and the information under the captions Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations Critical Accounting Policies Accounting for Income Taxes Personal Holding Company Tax Matters and Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations Liquidity, Capital Resources and Financial Condition Personal Holding Company Tax Matters in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended September 29, 2006, and Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations Critical Accounting Policies Accounting for Income Taxes Personal Holding Company Tax Matters and Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations Liquidity and Capital Resources Personal Holding Company Tax Matters in our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter ended March 30, 2007, each incorporated by reference herein, and any similar discussions appearing in documents we subsequently file with the SEC that are incorporated by reference in this prospectus or that we include in any applicable prospectus supplement or free writing prospectus provided to you in connection with this offering.

DESCRIPTION OF CAPITAL STOCK

General

The following is a summary of some of the terms of our common stock and related provisions of our certificate of incorporation and bylaws. For more detailed information, please see our certificate of incorporation and bylaws, which are incorporated by reference as exhibits to the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part and which you may obtain as described under Where You Can Find Additional Information. The following summary does not purport to be complete and is subject to, and qualified in its entirety by reference to, our certificate of incorporation and bylaws and the Delaware General Corporation Law.

Our certificate of incorporation authorizes two classes of common stock: Class A common stock, which has one vote per share, and Class B common stock, which has ten votes per share. Any holder of Class B common stock may convert his or her shares at any time into shares of Class A common stock on a share-for-share basis. The rights of the two classes of common stock are otherwise identical, except as described below. Some of the terms of these classes of common stock are discussed in greater detail below.

Our authorized capital stock consists of 1,000,000,000 shares, each with a par value of $0.001 per share, of which:

500,000,000 shares are designated as Class A common stock; and 500,000,000 shares are designated as Class B common stock.

At March 30, 2007, we had 40,048,820 shares of Class A common stock outstanding, held of record by 16 stockholders, and 69,253,168 shares of Class B common stock outstanding, held of record by 90 stockholders.

Common Stock

Voting Rights

Generally, holders of our Class A and Class B common stock have identical voting rights, except that holders of our Class A common stock are entitled to one vote per share, and holders of our Class B common stock are entitled to ten votes per share. Holders of shares of Class A common stock and Class B common stock vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of stockholders, including the election of directors, unless otherwise provided in our certificate of incorporation or required by law. Delaware law requires either our Class A common stock or Class B common stock to vote separately as a single class if, among other things, we amend our certificate of incorporation in a manner that alters or changes the powers, preferences or special rights of that class of common stock in a manner that affects it adversely or increases or decreases the number of authorized shares of that class. Our certificate of incorporation provides for the holders of our Class B common stock to vote separately as a class under only certain limited circumstances.

Our charter documents prohibit cumulative voting in the election of directors.

Dividends

Holders of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock are entitled to share equally on a per share basis in any dividends that our board of directors may determine to declare from time to time. In the event a dividend is paid in the form of shares of common stock or rights to acquire shares of common stock, the holders of Class A common stock will receive shares of Class A common stock or rights to acquire shares of Class A common stock, as the case may be, and the holders of shares of Class B common stock will receive shares of Class B common stock or rights to acquire shares of Class B common stock, as the case may be.

Liquidation Rights

Upon our liquidation, dissolution or winding-up, the holders of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock are entitled to share equally on a per share basis in all assets remaining after the payment of our liabilities.

Conversion

Shares of our Class A common stock are not convertible into any other shares of our capital stock. Each share of our Class B common stock is convertible into one share of Class A common stock at any time at the option of the holder or upon the affirmative vote of the holders of majority of the outstanding shares of Class B common stock.

In addition, each share of Class B common stock converts automatically into one share of Class A common stock upon any transfer, whether or not for value, except for certain transfers described in our certificate of incorporation, which include transfers to:

Holders of Class B common stock outstanding immediately following the effectiveness of our initial public offering (which occurred in February 2005), and the initial holders of shares of Class B common stock issued upon the exercise of options outstanding at such time, who we collectively refer to as our Class B holders;

Spouses or lineal descendants, or the spouses or domestic partners of such lineal descendants, of the Class B holders;

Executors or administrators of the estates of Class B holders, their spouses or lineal descendants, or the spouses or domestic partners of such lineal descendants;

Trusts for the benefit of Class B holders, their spouses or lineal descendants, the spouses or domestic partners of such lineal descendants, or the parents of the spouses or lineal descendants of Class B holders or the spouses or domestic partners of such lineal descendants, provided that the beneficiaries of such trusts may also include individuals or entities entitled to specific cash distributions or specific items of property other than shares of Class B common stock and charitable organizations;

Charitable organizations established by Class B holders, their spouses or lineal descendants, or the spouses or domestic partners of such lineal descendants; or Any other entity controlled by Class B holders, their spouses or lineal descendants, or the spouses or domestic partners of such lineal descendants, or trusts for their benefit, or charitable organizations established by them.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, each share of Class B common stock will automatically convert into one share of Class A common stock upon any transfer by the above persons or entities in a brokerage transaction or transaction with a market maker or in any similar open market transaction on any securities exchange, national quotation system or over-the-counter market.

We may not issue or sell any shares of Class B common stock, or any securities convertible or exercisable into shares of Class B common stock, except for the issuance or sale of shares:

Anti-Takeover Effects of Delaware Law and Our Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws

Certain provisions of Delaware law, our certificate of incorporation and our bylaws contain provisions that could have the effect of delaying, deferring or discouraging another party from acquiring or seeking to acquire control of our company. In particular, our dual class common stock structure concentrates voting power in the hands of our Class B stockholders. These provisions, some of which are summarized below, are intended to discourage coercive takeover practices and inadequate takeover bids. These provisions are also designed, in part, to encourage persons seeking to acquire control of our company to first negotiate with our board of directors.

Dual Class Structure

As discussed above, our Class B common stock has ten votes per share, while our Class A common stock, which is the class of stock the selling stockholder is selling in this offering and which is the only class of our stock that is publicly traded, has one vote per share. For information as to ownership of our Class B common stock by Ray Dolby and his affiliates, see Risk Factors. For the foreseeable future, Ray Dolby or his affiliates will be able to control the selection of all members of our board of directors, as well as virtually every other matter that requires stockholder approval, which will severely limit the ability of other stockholders to influence corporate matters and Holders of our Class A common stock, which is the stock the selling stockholder is selling in this offering, are entitled to one vote per share, and holders of our Class B common stock are entitled to ten votes per share. The lower voting power of the Class A common stock may negatively effect the attractiveness of our Class A common stock to investors and, as a result, its market value.

Because of this dual class structure, Ray Dolby, his affiliates, his family members and descendants will, for the foreseeable future and even if the selling stockholder sells all of the shares offered hereby, have significant influence over our management and affairs, and will be able to control virtually all matters requiring stockholder approval, including the election of directors and significant corporate transactions such as mergers or sales of our company or assets, even if in the future they come to own considerably less than 50% of the total number of outstanding shares of our Class A and Class B common stock. Assuming conversion of all shares of Class B common stock held by persons not affiliated with Ray Dolby into shares of Class A common stock, so long as Ray Dolby, his affiliates, his family members and descendants continue to hold shares of Class B common stock representing approximately 10% or more of the total number of outstanding shares of our Class A and Class B common stock, they will hold a majority of the combined voting power of the Class A and Class B common stock. This concentrated control will significantly limit the ability of stockholders other than Ray Dolby, his affiliates, his family members and descendants to influence corporate matters. Moreover, Ray Dolby and his affiliates may take actions in their own interests that you or our other stockholders do not view as beneficial.

Absent a transfer to a third party that would trigger automatic conversion of Class B common stock into Class A common stock as described above under Common Stock Conversion, there is no threshold or time deadline at which the shares of Class B common stock will automatically convert into shares of Class A common stock.

Limits on Ability of Stockholders to Act by Written Consent or Call a Special Meeting

We have provided in our certificate of incorporation that our stockholders may not act by written consent after such time as the outstanding shares of Class B common stock represent less than a majority of the combined voting power of our outstanding Class A common stock and Class B common stock. As a result, after such time, a holder controlling a majority of our capital stock would not be able to amend our bylaws or remove directors without holding a stockholders meeting. This limit on the ability of our stockholders to act by written consent may lengthen the amount of time required to take stockholder actions.

In addition, our certificate of incorporation provides that, unless otherwise required by law, special meetings of the stockholders may be called only by the chairman of the board, the chief executive officer, the president, or the board of directors acting pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the board members. A stockholder may not call a special meeting, which may delay or inhibit the ability of our stockholders to force consideration of a proposal or of holders controlling a majority of our capital stock to take any action, including the removal of directors.

Requirements for Advance Notification of Stockholder Nominations and Proposals

Our bylaws establish advance notice procedures with respect to stockholder proposals and the nomination of candidates for election as directors, other than nominations made by or at the direction of the board of directors or its committees. The bylaws do not give the board of directors the power to approve or disapprove stockholder nominations of candidates or proposals regarding business to be conducted at a special or annual meeting of the stockholders. However, our bylaws may have the effect of precluding the conduct of certain business at a meeting if the proper procedures are not followed. These provisions may also discourage or deter a potential acquiror from conducting a solicitation of proxies to elect the acquirer's own slate of directors or otherwise attempting to obtain control of our company.

Limits on Ability of Stockholders to Elect Directors

Our board of directors has the sole right to elect a director to fill a vacancy created by the expansion of the board of directors or the resignation, death or removal of a director, which prevents stockholders from being able to fill vacancies on our board of directors. In addition, our charter documents prohibit cumulative voting in the election of directors.

Amendment of Provisions in the Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws

Our certificate of incorporation requires the affirmative vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of the voting power of our outstanding voting stock in order to amend or repeal certain provisions of our certificate of incorporation, including:

The powers, preferences and rights of each class of common stock, including voting, dividend, liquidation and conversion rights;

The requirement that stockholders provide advance notice of matters to be acted upon and nominations for the election of directors at a stockholders meeting; and

The limits on the ability of stockholders to act by written consent or to call a special meeting.

Our certificate of incorporation also requires the affirmative vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of the voting power of our outstanding voting stock in order to create an additional class or series of capital stock.

Our bylaws require the affirmative vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of the voting power of our outstanding voting stock in order to amend certain provisions of our bylaws, including:

The limits on the ability of stockholders to act by written consent or to call a special meeting;

The provision prohibiting cumulative voting for the election of directors; and

Delaware Anti-Takeover Statute

We are subject to the provisions of Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law regulating corporate takeovers. In general, Section 203 prohibits a publicly held Delaware corporation from engaging, under certain circumstances, in a business combination with an interested stockholder for a period of three years following the date the person became an interested stockholder unless:

Prior to the date of the transaction, the board of directors of the corporation approved either the business combination or the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder;

Upon completion of the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, the interested stockholder owned at least 85% of the voting stock of the corporation outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, excluding for purposes of determining the voting stock outstanding, but not the outstanding voting stock owned by the interested stockholder, (1) shares owned by persons who are directors and also officers, and (2) shares owned by employee stock plans in which employee participants do not have the right to determine confidentially whether shares held subject to the plan will be tendered in a tender or exchange offer; or

At or subsequent to the date of the transaction, the business combination is approved by the board of directors and by the stockholders at an annual or special meeting, and not by written consent, by the affirmative vote of at least 66 ²/₃% of the outstanding voting stock that is not owned by the interested stockholder.

Generally, a business combination includes a merger, asset or stock sale, or other transaction with or resulting in a financial benefit to the interested stockholder. An interested stockholder is, in general, a person who, together with affiliates and associates, owns or owned, within three years prior to the determination of interested stockholder status, 15% or more of a corporation's outstanding voting stock.

We expect the existence of this provision to have an anti-takeover effect with respect to transactions our board of directors does not approve in advance. We also anticipate that Section 203 may also discourage attempts that could result in a premium over the market price for the shares of common stock held by stockholders.

The provisions of Delaware law and our charter documents could have the effect of discouraging others from attempting hostile takeovers and, as a consequence, they may also inhibit temporary fluctuations in the market price of our common stock that often result from actual or rumored hostile takeover attempts. These provisions may also have the effect of preventing changes in our management. Moreover, it is possible that these provisions could make it more difficult to accomplish transactions that stockholders may otherwise deem to be in their best interests.
