CGG Announces Large Pemex Survey in Gulf of Mexico

Paris, France November 17, 2013

CGG announced today that it has been selected to acquire a large high-end seismic acquisition survey in the Mexican waters of the Gulf of Mexico on behalf of Pemex.

The survey is phase 5 in Pemex's Centauro program, the largest ever proprietary 3D wide-azimuth program to be conducted worldwide. Phase 5 will add another 6,850 km<sup>2</sup> of data to the existing 25,000 km<sup>2</sup> already acquired since Centauro began in Oct 2010, bringing the total volume to almost 32,000 km<sup>2</sup>.

The survey will be acquired by the Oceanic Vega and Oceanic Sirius, CGG's two state-of-the-art 20-streamer vessels. The project is expected to commence in mid-November and be completed in March 2014.

Antonio Escalera, VP, Exploration, Pemex, said: "Since Pemex took the innovative step of adopting wide-azimuth acquisition in 2010, this technology has consistently demonstrated its reliability at delivering superior illumination and imaging to help explore Mexico's deep water hydrocarbon resources."

Jean-Georges Malcor, CEO, CGG said: "This fifth phase of the Centauro program testifies to the successful long-term exploration partnership CGG has developed with Pemex in the Gulf of Mexico. We will continue to work closely with Pemex to ensure this new wide-azimuth survey meets their E&P objectives."
