MGM URGES SHAREHOLDERS TO VOTE THE WHITE PROXY CARD

LAS VEGAS, Nevada May 15, 2015 MGM Resorts International (NYSE: MGM) today urged its shareholders to follow the recommendation of the leading independent proxy advisory firm, Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. (ISS), which advised MGM's shareholders to vote the WHITE proxy card FOR the reelection of all eleven of MGM's director nominees. MGM's 2015 Annual Meeting will be held on May 28, 2015.

MGM Resorts believes ISS is correct in its recommendation that MGM shareholders vote in favor of all our highly qualified and experienced director nominees. It is clear that ISS understands that MGM is performing well and that its Board has positioned the Company to deliver sustainable value to shareholders and is thoroughly considering MGM's future strategic options. We are pleased that ISS, in coming to its conclusion that MGM has the right Board in place, took the time to meet with us and conduct an in-depth analysis of our business and our Board's actions.

The Company also responded to a report by proxy advisory firm, Glass Lewis. While MGM notes Glass Lewis positive comments about the Board and management, we firmly believe that they have reached the wrong conclusion in recommending in favor of one L&B nominee. Oversight of a complex global gaming organization requires a Board with a diverse set of skills and expertise and replacing any of the targeted directors would alter the balanced and cohesive approach so vital to our continued success. The Board has made a firm commitment to continuing to conduct a thorough analysis of all of MGM's strategic options and we believe our directors have the necessary expertise to execute this comprehensive evaluation. MGM's Board has three directors representing 23% of MGM's stock as of the record date and we believe this aligns our Board very clearly with the goals of delivering optimal performance and maximizing value for shareholders. We urge shareholders to discard any gold proxy cards from L&B.

In recommending that shareholders support the Company's entire slate of eleven director nominees, ISS stated in its May 13, 2015 report:

As the dissident has not made a compelling case that change at the board level is warranted, votes on the management card for all management nominees are warranted.

This does not appear to be a board dismissive of emerging, and sometimes competing, strategic alternatives.

It is also significant that the company continues to invest in the future including expanding domestically, with the National Harbor and Springfield projects, as well as internationally but makes no all-in bet on a single project. Even a major project like MGM Cotai represents less than 15% of enterprise value.

On the REIT issue out of which this contest appears to have sprung, there is [] little evidence indicating the board is unduly resistant to the strategy, or unlikely to take appropriate action if it can enhance shareholder value.

While MGM does not agree with Glass Lewis' recommendation, it does agree with the following comments in the Glass Lewis report issued on May 14, 2015:

we don't believe the Dissident has demonstrated that the election of all four of its nominees is either warranted or likely to result in a better balance of experiences and skills than currently exist on the board.

we first note our general approval of the board's current mix of skills and experience across diverse backgrounds spanning business, government, executive leadership, gaming, lodging and public-company directorship.

We recognize that the current board has overseen a period in which MGM has recovered from the depths of the financial crisis, strengthened the Company's financial position and realized meaningful operational improvements.

we believe that the board and management team are in the best position to decide whether these transactions are in the best interests of the Company and its shareholders.

we note that MGM's unaffected 1-year and 3-year TSR , exceed the returns of Sands and Wynn. Specifically, MGM's unaffected 3-year TSR of 36% compares to total returns of 7% and 17% for Sands and Wynn, respectively.

in 2014 [MGM's] U.S. operations generated the highest level of adjusted property EBITDA in six years, wholly-owned U.S. resorts achieved 17% total EBITDA growth over the last three years, and EBITDA margins have improved in each of the last four years. In light of these encouraging results, we believe the board and management team have offered a sufficient rebuttal to the Dissident's concerns in this regard. MGM strongly recommends that shareholders vote on the WHITE proxy card to support the Company's nominees at the upcoming Annual Meeting.
