WESTLAKE CHEMICAL
FIRST QUARTER 2016
CONFERENCE CALL SCRIPT

I would like to make some brief comments regarding our proposal to acquire Axiall Corporation. As I'm sure you're all aware, on April 4th we announced that we had increased our proposal to acquire all of the outstanding shares of Axiall for $23.35 per share in cash and stock, after Axiall allowed us to conduct due diligence. The revised proposal, which reflects increased potential synergies of $90-$100 million per year, was summarily rejected by Axiall's Board of Directors without making a counterproposal or otherwise providing us with any meaningful feedback. Instead, Axiall continues to pursue a sale of its Building Products business, which we are concerned could negatively impact Axiall's remaining business and reduce potential synergies.

Based on Axiall's response and unwillingness to negotiate and the feedback we've received from its shareholders in support of a combination of our two companies, we are proceeding with soliciting proxies to elect a new slate of nine independent and highly-qualified candidates to Axiall's Board of Directors at Axiall's upcoming Annual Meeting. The nine independent nominees each have impressive track records, with significant experience as public company directors and executives at major global corporations, and would bring a fresh perspective to evaluating all of Axiall's options.

We believe that our proposal represents the best value creation strategy for Axiall's shareholders and is far superior to its standalone plan. A combination of Westlake and Axiall would create one of the leading North American olefins, vinyls, and building products producers, with increased scale in the growing global vinyls market and with additional growth opportunities for our combined company. By including Westlake stock in our proposed consideration, both Axiall and Westlake shareholders would be able to enjoy the meaningful synergies from this combination.

That's all we have to say on our proposal today. We would like to focus our question and answer session on Westlake's financial and operational results, and ask that you please keep your questions to the same topic.

Forward-Looking Statements

This communication contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the federal securities laws. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements regarding Westlake Chemical Corporation's (Westlake) proposal to acquire Axiall Corporation (Axiall) (including financing of the proposed transaction and the benefits, results, effects and timing of a transaction), all statements regarding Westlake's (and Westlake's and Axiall's combined) expected future financial position, results of operations, cash flows, dividends, financing plans, business strategy, budgets, capital expenditures, competitive positions, growth opportunities, plans and objectives of management, estimated synergies from the proposed transaction and statements containing the use of forward-looking words, such as may, will, could, would, should, project, believe, anticipate, expect, estimate, co-forecast, approximate, intend, upside, and the like, or the use of future tense. Statements contained herein concerning the business outlook or future economic performance, anticipated profitability, revenues, expenses, dividends or other financial items, and product or services line growth of Westlake (and the combined businesses of Westlake and Axiall), together with other statements that are not historical facts, are forward-looking statements that are estimates reflecting the best judgment of Westlake based upon currently available information. Statements concerning current conditions may also be forward-looking if they imply a continuation of current conditions.

Such forward-looking statements are inherently uncertain, and stockholders and other potential investors must recognize that actual results may differ materially from Westlake's expectations as a result of a variety of factors, including, without limitation, those discussed below. Such forward-looking statements are based upon management's current expectations and include known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors, many of which Westlake is unable to predict or control, that may cause Westlake's actual results, performance or plans with respect to Axiall to differ materially from any future results, performance or plans expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. These statements involve risks, uncertainties and other factors discussed below and detailed from time to time in Westlake's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC").

Risks and uncertainties related to the proposed business combination transaction include, but are not limited to: (i) the ultimate outcome of any possible transaction between Westlake and Axiall, including the possibility that Axiall will not accept a transaction with Westlake, (ii) the ultimate outcome and results of integrating the operations of Westlake and Axiall if a transaction is consummated, (iii) the ability to obtain regulatory approvals and meet other closing conditions to any possible transaction, including any necessary stockholder approvals, (iv) potential adverse reactions or changes to business relationships resulting from the announcement, pendency or completion of the proposed transaction, (v) competitive responses to the announcement or completion of the proposed transaction, costs and difficulties related to the integration of Axiall's businesses and operations with Westlake's businesses and operations, (vi) the inability to obtain, or delays in obtaining, cost savings and synergies from the proposed transaction, (vii) uncertainties as to whether the completion of the proposed transaction or any transaction will have the accretive effect on Westlake's earnings or cash flows that it expects, (viii) unexpected costs, liabilities, charges or expenses resulting from the proposed transaction, (ix) litigation relating to the proposed transaction, (x) the inability to retain key personnel, and (xi) any changes in general economic and/or industry-specific conditions.

In addition to the factors set forth above, other factors that may affect Westlake's plans, results or stock price are set forth in Westlake's Annual Report on Form 10-K and in its reports on Forms 10-Q and 8-K.

Many of these factors are beyond Westlake's control. Westlake cautions investors that any forward-looking statements made by Westlake are not guarantees of future performance. We do not intend, and undertake no obligation, to publish revised forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date of this communication or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.
