Geneos Spin-out and Financing

On February 21, 2019, Inovio Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (the Company) announced the completion of a spin-out of its previously wholly-owned subsidiary Geneos Therapeutics, Inc. (Geneos). On February 21, 2019, Geneos completed the initial closing of a preferred stock financing with outside investors. The Company participated in the preferred stock financing, which was led by Santé Ventures. The terms of the stock purchase agreement include commitments for additional investments by the Company and the other investors upon the occurrence of a specified regulatory event, as well as an option on the part of the Company and other investors to purchase additional preferred stock of Geneos upon the achievement of a specified milestone. In total, the financing could raise up to $10.5 million.

Following the initial closing of the financing transaction, the Company continues to hold a majority of the outstanding equity, on an as-converted to common stock basis, of Geneos. The Company's ownership percentage of Geneos would decrease in the event of additional purchases of preferred stock of Geneos by the other investors under the terms of the stock purchase agreement.

The Company has also entered into an agreement with Geneos pursuant to which the Company has exclusively licensed its DNA-based immunotherapy platform to Geneos for the field of personalized cancer treatments.

Departure of Chief Operating Officer

On February 21, 2019, Dr. Niranjana Y. Sardesai, who co-founded Geneos, resigned from his position as Chief Operating Officer of the Company in order to dedicate all of his efforts to his position as Chief Executive Officer of Geneos, a position he held prior to the financing and spin-out.
