MEDIA RELEASE

DRIEFONTEIN RESUMES OPERATIONS FOLLOWING A SIX DAY CLOSURE

Johannesburg, 15 December 2009: Gold Fields Limited (Gold Fields) (JSE, NYSE, NASDAQ Dubai: GFI) today announced that the Driefontein Gold Mine had resumed production with the commencement of the morning shift on Monday, 14 December 2009.

Blasting and on-reef development activities at the mine were suspended on Monday, 7 December 2009, following a number of seismic events in which two employees were fatally injured.

The mine was closed for a full week, mainly as a result of the complexity of the rescue and recovery effort and the fact that normal drilling and blasting activities could not proceed simultaneously with the rescue operation, as it would have placed rescue teams and other employees at risk. The rescue and recovery effort was completed late on Thursday, after which the normal risk assessment procedures and inspections took place.

Nick Holland, Chief Executive Officer of Gold Fields said: “We deeply regret the loss of our colleagues and have expressed our deepest condolences to their families. We have also offered our full support to help them cope with this unexpected tragedy. This incident again underscores our total commitment not to mine if we cannot mine safely, as well as the extreme urgency with which we are searching for a step change in our ability to effectively deal with the ever-present and unpredictable risk of seismicity.”

Nick Holland also thanked the various teams and other employees who participated in the rescue and recovery effort for their commitment and courage, and expressed appreciation towards the Department of Mineral Resources for their support throughout the process.

The suspension of blasting and development activities at Driefontein has resulted in six days of lost production, which is expected to have a material impact on production results of both Driefontein and the Group as a whole for the quarter ending 31 December 2009.

Updated production guidance for the December quarter will be provided early in January 2010, after the close of the quarter.
