Petrobras Repudiates Bolivian Government Declarations

(Rio de Janeiro, May 11, 2006). PETRÓLEO BRASILEIRO S/A - PETROBRAS, [Bovespa: PETR3/PETR4, NYSE: PBR/PBRA, Latibex: XPBR/XPBRA, BCBA: APBR/APBRA], a Brazilian international energy company, informs that during the meeting held yesterday in La Paz in the presence of the ministers of Mines and Energy for Brazil, Silas Rondeau, and of Hydrocarbons for Bolivia, Andrés Soliz-Rada, Petrobras and YPFB agreed that to comply with the provisions contained in the Supreme Decree (DS) 27801, certain regulations must be respected and clarifications obtained as to contractual and operational conditions. It was also agreed that possible losses due to the nationalization of Petrobras' assets in Bolivia will be subject to compensation to be negotiated. Any proposals for the revision of the price of natural gas acquired by Petrobras from YPFB will be discussed in the framework of the natural gas supply agreement (GSA).

Petrobras is surprised by recent statements accusing it of illegalities in its Bolivian business, made immediately following the publication of the joint communiqué with the details of the points of agreement reached in La Paz last night. In view of these reports, the Company wishes to publicly clarify that:

- It has always acted strictly within the law both in Bolivia as well as all countries where it operates or has operated.
- Its business in Bolivia is the result of bilateral agreements between the Brazilian and Bolivian governments. These agreements were instrumental in the construction of the Bolivia-Brazil gas pipeline, the signature of the GSA, and the exploration of gas in the San Alberto and San Antonio fields in a partnership between Petrobras and YPFB. This partnership terminated with the privatization of YPFB's stake in the joint venture.
- As a result of these agreements, Petrobras financed and built the Bolivian stretch of the Bolivia-Brazil gas pipeline, invested in exploration (initially in partnership with YPFB), and in production facilities in San Alberto and San Antonio. As a consequence of these operations, the Company has been purchasing Bolivian gas since 1999, as well as generating employment and paying taxes in Bolivia, accounting for 25% of the total tax revenues raised in the country.
- The execution and the implementation of the contracts, to which Petrobras has adhered now for more than ten years, respected the prevailing legal framework in Bolivia, befitting the judicial tribunals and appropriate arbitration bodies, not the executive branch, to act as eventual arbiters regarding their legality.

In view of this, Petrobras declares its indignation with respect to the accusations that, at any time, it might have deliberately conducted its business outside the law, whether in Bolivia or in any other country where it operates.
