Announcement

The State Council and Ministry of Finance have imposed a special oil income levy on income derived from the sale of locally produced crude oil which exceeds US$40 per barrel.

This announcement is made pursuant to rule 13.09 of the Hong Kong Listing Rules and the Shanghai Listing Rules.

According to the "Decision of the State Council to impose a levy on Special Oil Income" (GuoFa [2006] No. 13) and "Management Rules on the imposition of Special Oil Income" (Cai Qi [2006] No. 72) issued by the State Council and Ministry of Finance, with effect from 26 March 2006, the state will impose a special oil income levy on any income derived from the sale by a oil exploration and production company of locally produced crude oil at a price which exceeds US$40 per barrel. The special oil income levy will have 5 levels and will be calculated and charged according to the progressive ad valorem rates on the excess amounts. The levy will be calculated on a monthly basis and collected on a quarterly basis. The applicable level of the special oil income levy will be determined based on the weighted average crude oil sale price of the oil exploration and production company of a particular month. To enable comparison with the international oil prices, the level of levy will be determined based on US$ per barrel which starts at US$40 per barrel.

Details of the level of the levy are as follows:

| Crude oil prices (US$ / barrel) | Level of levy |
|----------------------------------|---------------|
| 40-45 (inclusive)                | 20%           |
| 45-50 (inclusive)                | 25%           |
| 50-55 (inclusive)                | 30%           |
| 55-60 (inclusive)                | 35%           |
| Over 60                          | 40%           |

The levy will be calculated based on the actual volume and the category of crude oil sold. The exchange rate between US$ and Renminbi will be based on the average of the daily middle-rate published by the People's Bank of China of a particular month.

As the international oil prices, exchange rate of Renminbi and crude oil production of the company fluctuates, the impact on the results of the company as a result of the implementation of the levy cannot be ascertained at this moment. However, the company's expenditure will increase and the results of the company will be adversely affected if the international crude oil price is above US$40 per barrel.
