Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

On December 31, 2007, Congress adjourned without the Senate having voted upon President George W. Bush's nominations of Susan Richardson Williams and Bishop William Graves to the TVA Board of Directors (the "Board"). Ms. Williams and Bishop Graves had been members of the Board since 2006, but their terms expired May 18, 2007. In such a situation, the TVA Act permitted them to continue to serve as directors until the end of the then-current session of Congress. Because Congress adjourned and their nominations were not approved, Ms. Williams and Bishop Graves are no longer directors of TVA.

As a result of these vacancies and a previous vacancy, there are currently six directors on the Board. Under the TVA Act, while the Board may have up to nine directors, a quorum for transacting business is five directors.
