For the first quarter of 2006, crude oil and liquids production of CNOOC Limited reached 383,519 barrels per day and gas production 390 million cubic feet per day. The Company also reported net production 415,144 BOE per day for offshore China, an 11% increase from the same period last year. Strong production growth in Bohai Bay contributed most to the increase of the Company's total production offshore China. The net production in Bohai Bay increased 23.4% for crude oil and 28.2% for natural gas.

Total unaudited revenue amounted to RMB 16.66 billion for the first quarter of 2006, among which oil and gas revenue rose to RMB 16.43 billion, representing a 43.8% increase from the same period last year.

In the first quarter, the Company realized an average oil price of US$58.13 per barrel, representing a 39.3% increase over the same period last year; The average realized gas price was US$3.10 per thousand cubic feet or a 6% increase over the same period last year.

The Company also made great progresses in overseas activities. In the first quarter, the Company acquired a 45% interest in OML 130 and a 35% interest in OPL 229 Block in Nigeria. The above acquisitions have laid solid foundation for the Company's medium to long term overseas growth, and indicated the Company's prudent overseas M&A strategy.

Mr. Yang Hua, Chief Financial Officer and Executive Vice President of the Company commented: " Thanks to the high oil price and our steady production growth, CNOOC Ltd achieved a great quarter."

The Company increased capital expenditures and spent RMB 430 million on exploration in this period, up 23.7% from the same period last year. The Company made three new discoveries offshore China: Bozhong 28-2S, Bozhong 29-4 and Qikou 18-2E. The relatively high success rate of exploration shows great exploration prospect offshore China.

Mr. Fu Chengyu, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Company commented, "The Company's record high results in the first quarter were reflected not only in its record high revenue, but also in other extraordinary progresses, especially overseas activities and exploration offshore China. It will further enhance our capability to pursue long term growth."
