For further information, refer to the consolidated financial statements and footnotes thereto included in the Hubbell Incorporated Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006.

Table of Contents

The Company's policy is to perform its annual goodwill impairment testing in the second quarter of each year unless circumstances dictate the need for more frequent assessments. In the second quarter of 2007, this testing resulted in implied fair values for each reporting unit which exceeded the reporting unit's carrying value, including goodwill. Consequently, there were no impairments of goodwill.

The carrying value of other intangible assets is as follows (in millions):

	June 30, 2007		December 31, 2006
	Gross Amount	Accumulated Amortization	Gross Amount	Accumulated Amortization
Definite-lived:
Patents and trademarks	$ 35.5	$ (2.6)	$ 36.8	$ (1.7)

Amortization expense associated with these assets for the full year is expected to be $5.2 million in 2007, $4.8 million in 2008 and 2009, and $4.6 million for the two years thereafter.

	Three Months Ended June 30		Six Months Ended June 30

There were 0.3 million of common stock equivalents for both the three months and six months ended June 30, 2007 and 0.9 million of common stock equivalents for both the three and six months ended June 30, 2006, which are anti-dilutive and have been excluded from the calculation of diluted earnings per share. In addition, the Company has stock appreciation rights which were excluded from the calculation of diluted earnings per share for both the three and six months ended June 30, 2007 and 2006 as the effect would be anti-dilutive.

7. Income Taxes

On January 1, 2007, the Company adopted the provisions of FIN 48. FIN 48 prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of the tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. For any amount of benefit to be recognized, it must be determined that it is more-likely-than-not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities based on the technical merits of the position. The amount of benefit recognized is based on the Company's assertion of the most likely outcome resulting from an examination, including resolution of any related appeals or litigation processes. At adoption, companies are required to adjust their financial statements to reflect only those tax positions that are more-likely-than-not to be sustained.

As a result of the adoption of FIN 48, the Company recorded a $4.7 million net reduction in the liability for unrecognized tax benefits, which was accounted for as an increase to the January 1, 2007 balance of Retained earnings. As of January 1, 2007, the Company had $24.2 million of unrecognized tax benefits reflected in Other Non-Current Liabilities. Included in the balance at January 1, 2007 are $9.1 million of tax positions which, if in the future are determined to be recognizable, would affect the annual effective income tax rate. At June 30, 2007, the Company had $24.7 million of unrecognized tax benefits, of which $8.5 million of tax positions would affect the annual effective income tax rate if recognizable in the future.

The Company's policy is to record interest and penalties associated with the underpayment of income taxes within Provision for income taxes in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Income. The Company had $4.2 million and $4.7 million as of January 1, 2007 and June 30, 2007, respectively, accrued for gross interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits.

Table of Contents

The following tax years, by major jurisdiction, are still subject to examination by taxing authorities:

Jurisdiction	Open Years
United States	2004	2006
Canada	2003	2006
United Kingdom	2005	2006

Based on the number of tax years currently under audit by the relevant Federal, State and foreign tax authorities, the Company anticipates that a number of these audits may be finalized within the next twelve months. However, based on the status of these examinations, and the protocol of finalizing audits by the relevant tax authorities, which could include formal legal proceedings, it is not possible to estimate the impact of any amount of such changes to previously recorded uncertain tax positions.

8. Segment Information

The following table sets forth financial information by business segment (in millions):

Employer Contributions

The Company contributed $15 million in the first quarter of 2007 to a domestic, qualified, defined benefit pension plan. No further contributions are expected to be made to any of the domestic, qualified, defined benefit pension plans in 2007. The Company will contribute approximately $5-$7 million to its foreign plans during 2007, of which approximately $1 million has been contributed through June 30, 2007.

10. Guarantees

The Company accrues for costs associated with guarantees when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and the amount can be reasonably estimated. The most likely cost to be incurred is accrued based on an evaluation of currently available facts and, where no amount within a range of estimates is more likely, the minimum is accrued.

As of June 30, 2007, the Company had fifteen individual forward exchange contracts, each for the purchase of $1.0 million U.S. which expire each month through March 2008. These contracts were entered into in order to hedge the exposure to fluctuating rates of foreign currency exchange on inventory purchases. These contracts have been designated cash flow hedges in accordance with SFAS No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, as amended.

The Company offers a product warranty which covers defects on most of its products. These warranties primarily apply to products that are properly used for their intended purpose, installed correctly, and properly maintained. The Company generally accrues estimated warranty costs at the time of sale. Estimated warranty expenses are based upon historical information such as past experience, product failure rates, or the number of units to be repaired or replaced. Adjustments are made to the product warranty cost accrual as claims are incurred or as historical experience indicates. The product warranty cost accrual is reviewed for reasonableness on a quarterly basis and is adjusted as additional information regarding expected warranty costs becomes known. Changes in the accrual for product warranties in the first six months of 2007 are set forth below (in millions):

Balance at December 31, 2006	$ 4.2

Table of ContentsITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS*Overview

Our Company is primarily engaged in the design, manufacture and sale of high quality electrical and electronic products which are used in the commercial, industrial, residential, utility and telecommunications markets. Our businesses are divided into three operating segments: Electrical, Power, and Industrial Technology. Results for the quarter and year-to-date by segment are included under Segment Results within this Management's Discussion and Analysis.

In 2006, we substantially completed our multi-year initiative to implement SAP software across our domestic businesses. In addition, 2006 marked the substantial completion of a multi-year, multi-phase program to integrate and rationalize our lighting businesses (Lighting Program). With these major initiatives substantially completed, management is focused on improving the Company's operating margins and overall financial performance by leveraging the following critical activities:

Price Realization. Growth in worldwide demand for commodity raw materials continues to put upward pressure on many of the raw materials used in our products and we have adjusted product selling prices to offset the cumulative effect of these cost increases.

Cost Containment. We remain focused on a variety of actions to lower the total cost of procuring, producing and distributing our products. We also continue to reduce the number and size of our manufacturing facilities and relocate certain operations to low cost countries.

Productivity. Programs to improve productivity and the effectiveness of our operations are centered in three main areas including factory efficiency, transformation of business processes, and working capital efficiency. Efforts are underway to standardize best practices leveraging the capabilities of our SAP information system. Further, we will continue our long-term initiative of applying lean process improvement techniques throughout the enterprise to eliminate waste and improve efficiency and reliability.

The increases in both periods were primarily due to the impact of acquisitions and selling price increases, partially offset by the decline in residential market demand. Higher selling prices and the acquisitions completed in 2006 each accounted for approximately four percentage points of the sales increase in both the second quarter and year-to-date 2007 compared with the same periods of 2006.

Sales to the retail and residential market decreased approximately 20% and 15% in the second quarter and first six months of 2007, respectively, compared to the same periods in 2006 primarily resulting from the decline in the U.S. housing market, partially offset by increased new product sales. Residential sales represented approximately 12% of the Company's consolidated net sales for the first six months of 2007.

Gross Profit

The consolidated gross profit margin in the second quarter of 2007 increased to 29.2% compared to 27.5% in the second quarter of 2006. On a year-to-date basis, 2007 gross profit margin increased to 28.4% compared to 27.6% for the first six months of 2006. The increases in both the quarter and year-to-date were primarily due to the favorable effects of higher selling prices in excess of commodity cost increases and productivity improvements, including lower freight and logistics costs. The gross profit margin improvement was broad based as all three segments contributed to the increase. These improvements in both the quarter and year-to-date versus the prior year were partially offset by the negative impact of an unfavorable product sales mix due to lower sales of higher margin residential products, unabsorbed factory costs due to lower production volumes in the Electrical segment, and increases in inventory carrying costs.

Selling & Administrative Expenses (S&A)

S&A expenses increased in the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods in 2006 primarily due to S&A expenses of the two businesses acquired in 2006 and expenses associated with new product launches. As a percentage of sales, S&A expenses of 17.1% in the second quarter and 17.2% for the first six months of 2007 were unchanged from the comparable periods of 2006 as costs incurred to support sales of new products and to reorganize operations, including office moves, were offset by cost containment initiatives and lower spending on the SAP systems implementation.

Special Charges

Special charges recorded in the second quarter and first six months of 2006 were $1.4 million and $3.1 million, respectively. All of the costs in both periods of the prior year related to the Lighting Program, a multi-year initiative which began in 2002, shortly after the purchase of Lighting Corporation of America and was substantially completed in 2006. Total cost of the program from inception to-date has been approximately $55 million of expense and $51 million of capital expenditures. As the program was substantially completed as of December 31, 2006, any remaining costs in 2007 are being reflected in S&A expense or Cost of goods sold in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Income. The 2006 second quarter charge consisted of $1.0 million of severance and related benefit costs and $0.4 million of transition and integration costs. The charge for the first six months of 2006 consisted of severance and related benefits of $2.0 million, transition and integration costs of $0.9 million and $0.2 million of inventory write-downs. The $0.2 million of inventory write-downs related to product rationalizations and was recorded within Cost of goods sold in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Income. Charges recorded primarily related to the consolidation of U.S. manufacturer of commercial lighting fixture products.

Other Income/Expense

In the second quarter and first six months of 2007, interest expense in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Income increased versus the comparable periods in 2006 due to higher average outstanding commercial paper borrowings in 2007 compared to 2006. In the second quarter and first six months of 2007, investment income decreased compared to the second quarter and first six months of 2006 due to lower average investment balances as a result of the funding of two acquisitions in 2006 and a higher amount of share repurchases.

Income Taxes

The effective tax rate in the second quarter of 2007 was 28.9% compared to 30.3% in the comparable period of 2006. The effective tax rate for the first six months of 2007 was 29.3% compared to 29.9% in the first six months of 2006. The effective tax rates in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006 reflect a lower year-over-year annual effective tax rate estimate primarily due to inclusion in the 2007 tax rate estimates of a benefit associated with the research and development tax credit which was not reflected in the first six months of 2006. The research and development tax credit expired as of January 1, 2006, but was subsequently reinstated in the fourth quarter of 2006.

Table of ContentsNet Income and Earnings Per Share

Net income and earnings per share increased in the second quarter and first six months of 2007 compared to the second quarter and first six months of 2006. The increase in both net income and earnings per share reflects higher sales, including the impact of acquisitions, higher operating income and a lower tax rate, offset by higher net interest expense. In addition, the increase in earnings per share reflects a reduction in average shares outstanding-basic in the second quarter and first six months of 2007 compared to the second quarter and first six months of 2006 due to shares repurchased under our stock repurchase program net of employee stock option exercises.

Operating income	41.7	35.4	69.3	64.9
Operating margins	9.9%	8.4%	8.4%	8.0%

Net sales in the Electrical segment increased 1% in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods in 2006. Within the segment, wiring systems, electrical products and commercial and industrial lighting experienced increases in the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus 2006 as a result of higher average selling prices, higher market demand and new product sales. Sales of harsh and hazardous products increased approximately 20% in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006 primarily due to higher oil and gas project shipments related to strong market conditions worldwide. These increases were substantially offset by the decline in residential lighting fixture sales as a result of a decline in the U.S. residential construction market. Sales of residential lighting fixture products were lower by approximately 27% and 24% in the second quarter and first six months of 2007, respectively, versus the comparable periods of 2006, consistent with the decline in residential construction market activity in the U.S. Higher selling prices were implemented and have been realized in all of the businesses within the segment in an effort to recover cost increases, primarily related to higher commodity raw material costs. Selling price increases in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 resulted in approximately 3-4 percentage points of higher sales versus the comparable periods of 2006.

Operating income and operating margin in the segment improved in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006 primarily due to selling price increases in excess of commodity cost increases, productivity gains and lower costs, including pension, special charges and SAP implementation cost reductions. These increases were partially offset by lower shipments of higher margin residential lighting fixture products, higher unabsorbed factory costs, costs associated with wiring systems new products and inventory carrying costs.

For the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the same periods of the prior year, we estimate that selling price increases exceeded commodity cost increases by 1.5-2.0 percentage points driven by higher price realization within each of our businesses. In addition, productivity improvements including lower freight and logistics costs, strategic sourcing initiatives and completed actions within our Lighting Program benefited results in both periods of 2007.

Net sales in the Power segment increased 17% and 20%, respectively, in the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods in 2006. The sales increase in both the quarter and first six months was primarily due to the impact of an acquisition and selling price increases, partially offset by modestly lower volume. The Hubbell Lenoir City, Inc. acquisition completed in the second quarter of 2006 accounted for approximately two-thirds of the sales increase in the second quarter and one-half of the first six months increase versus the comparable periods of 2006. Price increases were implemented across most product lines throughout 2006 and into 2007 where costs have risen due to increased metal and energy costs. We estimate that price increases accounted for approximately one-third of the quarter-over-quarter and year-over-year sales increases. Operating income and margin increased in the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006. The Hubbell Lenoir City acquisition contributed approximately one half of the operating income increase in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006. In addition, higher selling prices in excess of commodity cost increases, productivity improvements from strategic sourcing and favorable product mix all benefited 2007 results.

Industrial Technology

	Three Months Ended June 30		Six Months Ended June 30

Operating income	12.0	7.6	23.1	16.1

Net sales in the Industrial Technology segment increased 25% and 26%, respectively, in the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods in 2006. The increase in both the quarter and first six months was primarily due to the impact of an acquisition in 2006, higher international shipments, and selling price increases. We acquired Austdac Pty Ltd. (Austdac) in November 2006 which accounted for approximately one-half of the segment sales increase in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006. In addition, we estimate that selling price increases accounted for approximately four percentage points of the year-over-year sales increase in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007. Favorable foreign currency exchange rate changes increased net sales by approximately three percentage points in both the 2007 second quarter and year-to-date versus 2006. Operating income and margins increased in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006 as a result of higher unit volumes, selling price increases in excess of commodity cost increases, an improved mix of higher margin new product sales and productivity improvements. In addition, the Austdac acquisition contributed approximately one quarter of the operating income increase in both the second quarter and first six months of 2007 versus the comparable periods of 2006.

OUTLOOK

Our outlook for 2007 in key areas is as follows:

Sales

We expect overall growth in 2007 net sales versus 2006 to be in a range of 5%-7%. Sales increases compared to 2006 are expected to be led by our Power and Industrial Technology segments, while the Electrical segment should experience more modest growth due to significantly lower residential lighting fixture sales. In addition, we expect to see short-term variations in demand among our markets during the remainder of the year which could affect these projections. This outlook for our markets assumes no shocks to the economy, which could dampen consumer spending and business investments. The impact of selling price increases should comprise approximately three percentage points of the year-over-year sales growth. The full year impact of our 2006 acquisitions is expected to contribute two percentage points of these amounts.

Operating Results

Full year 2007 operating profit margin is expected to increase by approximately 150 basis points compared to 2006. Several key initiatives are expected to benefit operating margins including the expansion of global product sourcing, improved productivity in logistics and in our factories and the substantial completion of our 2006 key initiatives. In addition, we expect that selling price increases in 2006 as well as additional announced increases in 2007 will exceed higher levels of raw material commodity costs and higher energy related costs. However, commodity and energy costs are expected to remain volatile and further increases in these costs in 2007 may not be fully offset with price increases.

Taxation

We estimate the effective tax rate in 2007 will be approximately 29.3% compared with 28.6% reported in 2006. The increase is primarily due to an anticipated higher level of U.S. taxable income.

Earnings Per Share

Earnings per diluted share is expected to be in the range of $3.10-$3.30.

Cash Flow

We expect to increase working capital efficiency in 2007 primarily as a result of improvements in the procurement and management of inventory levels. Capital spending in 2007 is expected to be approximately $15-$20 million lower than in 2006 primarily as a result of the completion of our new lighting headquarters facility and the substantial completion of the SAP implementation at our domestic businesses. We expect spending from a combination of share repurchases and/or acquisitions in 2007 to approximate $150-$200 million. Free cash flow (defined as cash flow from operations less capital spending) in 2007 is expected to be in the range of $200-$215 million.

Growth

Our growth strategy contemplates acquisitions in our core businesses. The rate and extent to which appropriate acquisition opportunities become available, acquired companies are integrated and anticipated cost savings are achieved can affect our future results. During 2007, we anticipate investing in acquisitions below the level in 2006; however, actual spending may vary depending upon the timing and availability of appropriate acquisition opportunities.

FINANCIAL CONDITION, LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCESCash Flow

	Six Months Ended June 30
	2007	2006

Operating activities	$ 139.4	$ 53.6

Financing activities	(93.9)	(76.4)
Effect of foreign currency exchange rate changes on cash and cash equivalents	1.2	0.7
Net change in cash and cash equivalents	$ 14.5	$ (57.1)

Cash provided by operating activities for the six months ended June 30, 2007 increased from the comparable period in 2006 primarily as a result of lower working capital. Working capital changes during the first six months of 2007 provided cash of $32.0 million compared to a use of cash for working capital of $56.6 million in the prior year. The lower level of working capital in 2007 primarily consists of decreases in inventory balances and increases in current liabilities, primarily accounts payable. Cash from operations includes the impact of a $15 million cash contribution made in the first quarter of 2007 to a domestic, qualified, defined benefit pension plan.

Investing activities used cash of $32.2 million in the first six months of 2007 compared to a use of $35.0 million during the comparable period in 2006. In the first six months of 2007, net proceeds from the sale of investments, cash expended for acquisitions and capital expenditures were all lower compared to the first six months of 2006. Financing activities used cash of $93.9 million in the first six months of 2007 compared to a use of $76.4 million during the comparable period in 2006. This increase is due to higher share repurchases partially offset by higher proceeds from stock option exercises and lower debt repayments in 2007 compared to 2006.

Investments in the Business

We define investments in our business to include both normal expenditures required to maintain the operations of our equipment and facilities as well as expenditures in support of our strategic initiatives.

In the first six months of 2007, we used cash of $33.0 million for capital expenditures, of which $11.4 million was spending in connection with the new lighting headquarters.

In the first six months of 2007, the Company spent $2.8 million on acquisitions. This amount includes the acquisition of a small Brazilian manufacturer in the Power segment and an adjustment to the purchase price of Austdac which was acquired in the fourth quarter of 2006 and is included in the Industrial Technology segment. In the first six months of 2006, the Company spent $118 million related to the acquisition of Hubbell Lenoir City, Inc. which is included in the Power segment.

In February 2006, the Board of Directors approved a stock repurchase program and authorized the repurchase of up to $100 million of the Company's Class A and Class B Common Stock. The February 2006 program was completed in May 2007. In February 2007, the Board of Directors approved a new stock repurchase program and authorized the repurchase of up to an additional $200 million of Class A and Class B Common Stock to be completed over a two year period. This program was implemented upon completion of the February 2006 program. Stock repurchases are being implemented through open market and privately negotiated transactions. We have spent $88.7 million on the repurchase of common shares in the first six months of 2007. As of June 30, 2007, a total of $161.9 million remains authorized for future repurchases under the 2007 program.

Debt to Capital

Net Debt, as disclosed below, is a non-GAAP measure that may not be comparable to definitions used by other companies. We consider Net Debt to be more appropriate than Total Debt for measuring our financial leverage as it better measures our ability to meet our funding needs.

	June 30, 2007	December 31, 2006
	(In Millions)
Total Debt	$ 216.0	$ 220.2
Total Shareholders' Equity	1,040.3	1,015.5
Total Capital	$ 1,256.3	$ 1,235.7
Debt to Total Capital	17%	18%
Cash and Investments	$ 96.3	$ 81.5
Net Debt (Total debt less cash and investments)	$ 119.7	$ 138.7

The ratio of debt to total capital at June 30, 2007 decreased to 17% compared with 18% at December 31, 2006 primarily due to lower levels of short-term borrowings.

At June 30, 2007, Short-term debt of $16.6 million in our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet consisted of commercial paper.

At June 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, Long-term debt in our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet consisted of $200 million, excluding unamortized discount, of senior notes which mature in 2012. These notes are fixed rate indebtedness, are not callable and are only subject to accelerated payment prior to maturity if we fail to meet certain non-financial covenants, all of which were met at June 30, 2007.

Table of ContentsLiquidity

We measure liquidity on the basis of our ability to meet short-term and long-term operational funding needs, fund additional investments, including acquisitions, and make dividend payments to shareholders. Significant factors affecting the management of liquidity are cash flows from operating activities, capital expenditures, cash dividend payments, stock repurchases, access to bank lines of credit and our ability to attract long-term capital with satisfactory terms.

At June 30, 2007 all of our $200 million committed bank credit facility was available for borrowing. Although not the principal source of liquidity, we believe our credit facility is capable of providing significant financing flexibility at reasonable rates of interest. However, a significant deterioration in the results of our operations or cash flows, leading to deterioration in financial condition, could either increase our borrowing costs or restrict our ability to borrow. We have not entered into any other guarantees that could give rise to material unexpected cash requirements.

We have contractual obligations for long-term debt, operating leases, purchase obligations, and certain other long-term liabilities that were summarized in a table of Contractual Obligations in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006. Since December 31, 2006, there were no material changes to our contractual obligations, except for amounts related to unrecognized tax benefits. As discussed in our Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements, we adopted the provisions of FIN 48 as of January 1, 2007. As of June 30, 2007, we had $24.7 million of unrecognized tax benefits for which we are unable to make a reasonably reliable estimate as to the timing of cash settlement with a taxing authority.

Internal cash generation together with currently available cash and investments, available borrowing facilities and an ability to access credit lines, if needed, are expected to be sufficient to fund operations, the current rate of cash dividends, capital expenditures, and any increase in working capital that would be required to accommodate a higher level of business activity. We actively seek to expand by acquisition as well as through the growth of our current businesses. While a significant acquisition may require additional debt and/or equity financing, we believe that we would be able to obtain additional financing based on our favorable historical earnings performance and strong financial position.

Critical Accounting Estimates

A summary of our critical accounting estimates is included in Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations contained in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006. We are required to make estimates and judgments in the preparation of our financial statements that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses and related disclosures. We continually review these estimates and their underlying assumptions to ensure they are appropriate for the circumstances. Changes in the estimates and assumptions we use could have a significant impact on our financial results. Other than the impact of adopting FIN 48 described below, there have been no changes to our practices with respect to critical accounting estimates since December 31, 2006.

Income Taxes

We account for income taxes in accordance with SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes and FIN 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes- an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109. SFAS No. 109 requires that deferred tax assets and liabilities be recognized using enacted tax rates for the effect of temporary differences between the book and tax basis of recorded assets and liabilities. SFAS No. 109 also requires that deferred tax assets be reduced by a valuation allowance if it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax asset will not be realized. The factors used to assess the likelihood of realization of deferred tax assets are the forecast of future taxable income and available tax planning strategies that could be implemented to realize the net deferred tax assets. Failure to achieve forecasted taxable income can affect the ultimate realization of net deferred tax assets.

We operate within multiple taxing jurisdictions and are subject to audit in these jurisdictions. The Internal Revenue Service and other tax authorities routinely review our tax returns. These audits can involve complex issues, which may require an extended period of time to resolve. In accordance with FIN 48, effective January 1, 2007, the Company records uncertain tax positions only when it has determined that it is more-likely-than-not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities based on the technical merits of the position. The Company uses the criteria established in FIN 48 to determine whether an item meets the definition of more-likely-than-not. The Company's policy is to recognize these tax benefits when the more-likely-than-not threshold is met, when the statute of limitations has expired or upon settlement. In management's opinion, adequate provision has been made for potential adjustments arising from any examinations.

ITEM 3. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

In the operation of its business, the Company has exposures to fluctuating foreign currency exchange rates, availability of purchased finished goods and raw materials, changes in material prices, foreign sourcing issues, and changes in interest rates. As noted throughout Management's Discussion and Analysis, we have seen significant increases in the cost of certain raw materials and components used in our products. In addition, the Company's procurement strategy continues to emphasize an increased level of purchases from international locations, primarily China and India, which subjects the Company to increased political and foreign currency exchange risk. Changes in the Chinese government's policy regarding the value of the Chinese currency versus the U.S. dollar has not had any significant impact on our financial condition, results of operations or cash flows. However, strengthening of the Chinese currency could increase the cost of the Company's products procured from this country. There has been no significant change in the Company's strategies to manage these exposures during the first six months of 2007. For a complete discussion of the Company's exposure to market risk, refer to Item 7A, Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk, contained in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ending December 31, 2006.

ITEM 4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

The Company maintains disclosure controls and procedures that are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, (the Exchange Act) is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified and that such information is accumulated and communicated to management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure. There are inherent limitations to the effectiveness of any system of disclosure controls and procedures. Accordingly, even effective disclosure controls and procedures can only provide reasonable assurance of achieving their control objectives.

The Company carried out an evaluation, under the supervision and with the participation of management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, of the effectiveness of the design and operation of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures pursuant to Exchange Act Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e), as of the end of the period covered by this report on Form 10-Q. Based upon that evaluation, each of the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that, as of June 30, 2007, the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were effective.

There have been no changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting that occurred during the Company's most recently completed quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

In connection with the Company's previously announced stock repurchase programs, in August 2006 and on May 1, 2007, the Company established prearranged repurchase plans (10b5-1 Plans) intended to comply with the requirements of Rule 10b5-1 and Rule 10b-18 under the Exchange Act. The 10b5-1 Plans facilitate the ongoing repurchase of the Company's common stock by permitting the Company to repurchase shares during times when it otherwise might be prevented from doing so under insider trading laws or because of self-imposed blackout periods.

Under the May 2007 10b5-1 Plan, a broker appointed by the Company has the authority to repurchase, without further direction from the Company, up to 1,500,000 shares of Class B Common Stock during the period commencing on May 1, 2007 and expiring on November 1, 2007, subject to conditions specified in the 10b5-1 Plan and unless earlier terminated. The Company has repurchased 885,900 shares of its Class B Common Stock under this plan as of June 30, 2007.

Under the August 2006 10b5-1 Plan, a broker appointed by the Company has the authority to repurchase, without further direction from the Company, up to 750,000 shares of Class A Common Stock and up to 750,000 shares of Class B Common Stock during the period August 4, 2006 through August 3, 2007. The Company has repurchased all 750,000 shares of Class B Common Stock authorized and has repurchased 317,785 shares of Class A Common Stock as of June 30, 2007.

There is no guarantee as to the number of shares that will be repurchased under these plans, and the Company may terminate the plans at any time. Depending upon market conditions, the Company also expects to continue to conduct discretionary repurchases in privately negotiated transactions during normal trading windows.
