Election of Directors

General

The Board of Directors currently consists of eight members. The directors are divided into three classes, each class serving for a staggered three-year term. Class I and Class II each consist of three directors and Class III consists of two directors. Class I, whose term expires in 2004, consists of Dr. Nettles, Mr. Dillon and Ms. Fitt; Class III, whose term expires in 2003, consists of Professor Bradley and Mr. Taylor; and Class II, whose term expires at the Annual Meeting, consists of Ms. O'Brien and Messrs. Each of the nominees for Class II, if elected, will serve for a term expiring at the 2005 annual meeting of stockholders.

Unless otherwise instructed on the proxy, it is the intention of the persons named in the proxy to vote the shares represented by each properly executed proxy for the election as directors of the persons named as nominees. The Board of Directors believes that all such nominees will stand for election and will serve if elected. However, if any of the persons nominated by the Board of Directors fails to stand for election or declines to accept election, proxies will be voted by the proxy holders for the election of such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may recommend.

Under the Corporation's 1996 Outside Directors Stock Option Plan (the Directors Plan), non-employee Directors are eligible to receive stock options in consideration for their services. The Directors Plan provides that each non-employee Director will receive an option grant for 60,000 shares of Common Stock upon joining the Board of Directors and an annual option grant for 20,000 shares of Common Stock thereafter. Directors who have not served for at least twelve months as of the date immediately following the date of the last annual meeting will receive a pro-rata annual option grant. Options generally must be exercised within ten years.

Employment Agreements and Change-in-Control Arrangements

In April 1994, the Corporation entered into an employment agreement with Dr. Nettles. The employment agreement specifies that Dr. Nettles is an employee at will. In the event that he is terminated for cause, as defined in the employment agreement, he will receive a severance payment equal to his monthly base salary until the earlier of the expiration of six months or the commencement of employment with a person or entity other than the Corporation.

In November 1998, the Corporation entered into transfer of control/severance agreements with Dr. Nettles, and Messrs. Smith, Chaddick, and Chinnici, and in August 1999, it entered a similar agreement with Mr. McCarthy. The initial term of each of these agreements is three years, and on each anniversary of its effective date it is automatically extended by one year unless the Corporation gives 90 days notice of non-renewal. The agreements provide for the continuation of payment of up to one year of salary and bonus in the event that the Named Executive Officer's employment is terminated without cause or for good reason, as defined in the agreements, within one year following a change-in-control of the Corporation.

In August 1999, the Corporation entered into an executive incentive agreement with Mr. Smith. The employment agreement provides for payment of an incentive bonus of $3,000,000 to Mr. Smith upon the earlier of: (i) his termination without cause or for good reason, as defined in the agreement, following a transfer of control, or (ii) on August 18, 2002. In the event that Mr. Smith elects to terminate his employment for good reason as defined in the agreement, or he is terminated for any reason other than for cause, he will receive a pro-rata portion of the incentive bonus.

In December 2001, separate and apart from the executive incentive agreement described above, the Corporation entered into a new transfer of control/severance agreement with Mr. Smith, which superseded his previous transfer of control/severance agreement in its entirety. This new agreement provides that, in the event that Mr. Smith's employment is terminated without cause or for good reason, as defined in the agreement, within one year following a change-in-control of the Corporation, then Mr. Smith shall be entitled to a payment in an amount which is the greater of $3,000,000 or three times his then current base salary and bonus, as well as immediate vesting of all of his unvested options.

Also in December 2001, the Corporation amended the transfer of control/severance agreements with Dr. Nettles and Messrs. Chaddick, Chinnici and McCarthy to provide for the continuation of vesting of options for up to one year, provided that certain conditions are met, in the event that the Named Executive Officer's employment is terminated without cause or for good reason within one year following a change-in-control of the Corporation.

Human Resources Committee Report on Executive Compensation

The Human Resources Committee of the Board of Directors (the Committee) in fiscal 2001 consisted of Messrs. Cash and Taylor and Ms. O'Brien, none of whom are employees or officers of the Corporation. The Committee advises and assists management in developing the Corporation's compensation and personnel policies, and provides Board oversight of their implementation. The Committee endeavors to meet no less than four times per year to review issues associated with compensation, human resources policies, personnel recruitment and retention and to consider, amend, or approve quarterly objectives for the Corporation, as recommended by the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer.

The Committee has adopted a performance-based compensation policy for executive officers that considers both the long and short term. These two components are linked in a way intended to focus management on increasing the strength of the business and its ability to serve important customers with leading, high-value products. The Committee believes that this policy will increase stockholder value over the long term. On at least an annual basis, the Committee approves the Corporation's compensation package for executive officers, which includes a combination of annual base salary and benefits, performance-based quarterly bonuses, and long-term compensation consisting of stock options. Annual base salaries are established following an assessment by the Committee of market survey data for similar positions in comparable companies. The Committee's goal is to set the Corporation's total compensation for each position at or slightly above the average level of compensation for the same position in the comparable group of companies. Because of the competitive nature and projected growth of the optical networking industry, the Committee typically targets between the fiftieth and the seventy-fifth percentile of these surveys in setting compensation. In setting compensation the Committee takes into account regional and national data, together with the skills and performance of the individual and the needs of the Corporation. Quarterly bonus payments to members of management are awarded following assessment by the Committee of the success of the Corporation in achieving its revenue and income objectives.

The Committee reassesses and resets annual base salaries for members of management each year, ordinarily at the end of the fiscal year. In October 2001 it conducted this reassessment for fiscal 2002. Because of the difficult economic climate in which the Corporation is operating, and in order to establish an example of fiscal prudence, the Committee accepted the recommendation of the management that management salaries not be increased for fiscal 2002. The Committee determined that the Corporation's quarterly corporate objectives were met or otherwise satisfied during each of the four fiscal quarters of fiscal 2001, and bonuses were paid accordingly at the conclusion of each quarter during fiscal 2001.

Management participates, along with all other employees, in the Corporation's annual grant of stock options to employees. In October 2001, the Committee authorized a supplemental grant of stock options to all employees, including members of management, who held options with an exercise price of $40 or more. The purpose of the grant was to restore the incentives provided by stock options to those employees who hold options with exercise prices that are significantly above the market price of the Corporation's shares as a result in the decline of the Corporation's stock price since the beginning of calendar 2001. The number of shares granted each employee was a function of the number of shares covered by his or her existing options and the exercise price of those options, with more shares granted to employees holding options at higher prices. In addition, consistent with the Corporation's policy, members of management who were promoted during fiscal 2001 were given additional grants of stock options at the time of their promotion. The annual grant of stock options to employees and management was first implemented in November 1998. In August 2001, in order to protect against fluctuations in the price of the Corporation's stock, the Committee approved and authorized a plan to provide semi-annual grants of stock options to employees in November and May instead of an annual grant in November.

Mr. Smith was promoted to Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation in May 2001. In establishing his compensation for the remainder of fiscal 2001, the Committee considered the same factors and criteria described above, with particular emphasis on the compensation of CEOs of companies the Committee considered comparable to the Corporation. Mr. Smith's incentive compensation for fiscal 2001 was based upon the success of the Corporation in achieving certain quarterly revenue and income objectives that were set by the Committee in advance of each fiscal quarter. If the Corporation met or exceeded these criteria in a fiscal quarter, Mr. Smith would receive a bonus of 25% of his base salary. If the Corporation did not meet the objectives, Mr. Smith would not receive a bonus for that quarter. Because these criteria were met or exceeded in each of the last two quarters of fiscal 2001, during which Mr. Smith served as Chief Executive Officer, he received the full amount of the bonus for both quarters. Mr. Smith was also awarded stock options in the Corporation's semi-annual grant based upon market survey data. The Committee targeted between the fiftieth and the seventy-fifth percentile of this survey in setting his option grant.

In October 2001, the Committee also reviewed the stock option positions of the Corporation's senior management, with a view toward assuring that, in light of their positions, responsibilities, and importance to the Corporation's success, they each had adequate long-term incentives to remain with the Corporation. On the basis of this review, the Committee determined to award additional options to several executives, including a grant of 250,000 shares to Mr. Smith.

For fiscal 2002, the Committee will again establish quarterly corporate objectives. If the Committee determines that the corporate objectives have been met or otherwise satisfied in each of the four fiscal quarters, the bonus payments for the executive officers of the Corporation, which will be paid quarterly on an equal pro rata basis, will equal, in the aggregate, up to 50% or 100% of an executive's base salary, with the exact percentage based on the particular officer's title and responsibilities as viewed by the Committee. The Chief Executive Officer is eligible for a bonus of up to 100% of base salary; the Chief Financial Officer and the Senior Vice President, Worldwide Sales & Support are eligible for bonuses of up to 75% of base salary; and the remaining senior executives are eligible for bonuses of up to 50% of base salary in fiscal 2002.

Under Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code), and applicable Treasury regulations, no tax deduction is allowed for annual compensation in excess of $1 million paid to any of the five most highly compensated executive officers.

Performance-based compensation that has been approved by stockholders, however, is excluded from the $1 million limit if, among other requirements, the compensation is payable only upon attainment of pre-established objective performance goals and the board committee that establishes such goals consists only of outside directors as defined for purposes of Section 162(m). The Board of Directors and the stockholders have approved the adoption of the CIENA Corporation Third Amended and Restated 1994 Stock Option Plan (the Third Amended and Restated Plan), which is structured to qualify as performance-based. In addition, all of the members of the Human Resources Committee qualify as outside directors. Accordingly, compensation awarded by the Committee to the Corporation's five most highly compensated executive officers under the Third Amended and Restated Plan is intended to be deductible under Section 162(m). The Human Resources Committee thus intends to structure performance-based compensation, such as stock option grants, to executive officers who may be subject to Section 162(m) in a manner that satisfies the requirements of Section 162(m) so long as doing so is compatible with its determinations as to the most appropriate methods and approaches for the design and delivery of compensation to executive officers of CIENA.

Voting Procedures

Shares can be voted only if the stockholder is present in person or by proxy. Whether or not you plan to attend in person, you are encouraged to sign and return the enclosed proxy card. The representation in person or by proxy of at least a majority of the outstanding shares entitled to vote is necessary to provide a quorum at the meeting. Directors are elected by a plurality of the affirmative votes cast by the stockholders present at the meeting (in person or by proxy). Shareholders may not cumulate votes in the election of directors. Unless otherwise indicated, executed proxies will be voted for the election of the three Directors nominated by management.

Voting Electronically via the Internet or by Telephone

If your shares are registered in the name of a bank or a brokerage firm, and you have elected to receive your Proxy Statement over the Internet, you may be eligible to vote your shares electronically over the Internet or by telephone. A large number of banks and brokerage firms are participating in the ADP Investor Communications Services online program. This program provides eligible shareholders who receive a paper copy of this Proxy Statement the opportunity to vote via the Internet or by telephone. If your bank or brokerage firm is participating in ADP's program, your proxy card will provide instructions. If your proxy card does not reference Internet or telephone information, please complete and return the proxy card in the self-addressed, postage paid envelope provided. Eligible shareholders who elected to receive the 2002 Proxy Statement and Annual Report on the Internet will be receiving an email on or about February 1, 2002 with information on how to access shareholder information and instructions for voting.

Abstentions and non-votes are counted as present in determining whether the quorum requirement is satisfied. Abstentions and non-votes are treated as votes against proposals presented to stockholders other than elections of directors. A non-vote occurs when a nominee holding shares for a beneficial owner votes on one proposal, but does not vote on another proposal because the nominee does not have discretionary voting power and has not received instructions from the beneficial owner.

Stockholder Proposals for 2003 Annual Meeting

All stockholder proposals intended to be presented at the 2003 Annual Meeting of the Corporation must be received by the Corporation not later than October 3, 2002 and must otherwise comply with the rules of the SEC for inclusion in the Corporation's proxy statement and form of proxy relating to that meeting. The deadline for matters sought to be presented at the 2003 Annual Meeting is December 17, 2002. If a stockholder gives notice of such a proposal after the December 17, 2002 deadline, the Corporation's proxy holders will be allowed to use their discretionary voting authority to vote against the stockholder proposal when and if the proposal is raised at the Corporation's 2003 annual meeting.
