eLoyalty Announces Price of 7% Series B Convertible Preferred Stock

Lake Forest, IL, December 13, 2001 eLoyalty Corporation, a leading enterprise CRM services company (Nasdaq: ELOY), announced today that the price of the 7% Series B convertible preferred stock that is being offered to affiliates of two current investors in eLoyalty in a previously announced private placement, as well as other common stockholders in the company's rights offering, is $0.51 a share (or $5.10 a share after giving effect to the proposed one-for-ten reverse stock split which the company anticipates completing before the closing of the private placement and the rights offering). The price for the Series B convertible preferred stock is based on the lesser of $0.51 a share or 90% of the average of the closing price of eLoyalty common stock for the twenty trading days ended December 13, 2001.

eLoyalty plans to hold a special meeting of stockholders on December 18, 2001 where stockholders will consider the following three proposals:

1. Approve the issuance and sale of shares of 7% Series B convertible preferred stock in a private placement to funds affiliated with Technology Crossover Ventures and Sutter Hill Ventures, and the issuance of common stock upon the conversion of that preferred stock;
2. Approve an increase in the number of authorized shares of both the company's common stock and the company's preferred stock, which facilitates the private placement and the concurrent rights offering; and
3. Approve a one-for-ten reverse stock split with respect to all issued shares of the company's common stock and a corresponding reduction in the number of authorized shares of the company's common stock.

In a previous press release dated December 3, 2001, eLoyalty announced that Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS), a leading proxy advisory firm, had recommended that its clients vote in favor of the three proposals put forth at eLoyalty's upcoming stockholders' meeting on December 18, 2001.

Subject to stockholder approval, the one for ten reverse stock split will be effective prior to the open of business on December 19, 2001. eLoyalty expects to close the private placement and the rights offering after the close of market on December 19, 2001. The company's goal is to raise $20 million to $30 million through these transactions, although the actual amount of proceeds raised will depend primarily on the level of participation in the rights offering.

The rights offering is scheduled to expire at 5:00 p.m. EST on December 19, 2001. The terms of the rights offering are described in the company's prospectus dated November 13, 2001. Stockholders may consult with their bank or brokerage or MacKenzie Partners, who is serving as the information agent for the rights offering, if they have questions about the rights offering. The phone number for MacKenzie Partners is 800-322-2885 (call collect at 212-925-5500).

We are pleased with the interest that stockholders have expressed in the three stockholder proposals and the rights offering, said Kelly D. Conway, President and CEO of eLoyalty. We believe that these actions will provide eLoyalty with greater flexibility for achieving our long-term business plans in these challenging economic times. By bolstering eLoyalty's financial fundamentals, the company will be in a stronger position to achieve future profitable growth.
