Item 8.01. Other Events

On June 18, 2008, HLTH Corporation (which owns approximately 84% of the outstanding common stock of WebMD Health Corp.) issued a press release announcing that on June 18, 2008, HLTH received a letter from a law firm purporting to represent certain purported holders of HLTH's 31/8% Convertible Notes due 2025 (the 31/8% Notes) enclosing a purported notice of default (the Notice Letter). The Notice Letter, which was also sent to the Indenture Trustee, expresses the view that a default under the Indenture for the 31/8% Notes has occurred because of (i) HLTH's stated intention not to issue a change-of-control notice to the Notes holders in connection with the proposed merger (the Proposed Merger) of HLTH and WebMD, and (ii) HLTH's stated intention not to adjust the 31/8% Notes' conversion rate under Section 10.06(c) of the Indenture following the proposed merger.

HLTH believes that the Notice Letter is without merit and defective for several reasons including, without limitation, the following:

the Proposed Merger will not constitute a change of control under the Indenture because WebMD is a majority-owned subsidiary of HLTH, and the Indenture expressly excludes mergers between HLTH and any of its subsidiaries from the change-in-control definition;

the Proposed Merger will not trigger a conversion-rate adjustment under Section 10.06(c) of the Indenture because: Section 10.06(c) applies specifically to distributions, not to merger consideration, even if it is paid in cash; and the Notes holders will be entitled to a conversion-rate adjustment under Section 10.13 of the Indenture which, unlike Section 10.06(c), explicitly provides the mechanism for adjusting the conversion rate in the event of a merger, including for merger consideration paid in cash; and any notice of default related to the Proposed Merger's effect on the 31/8% Notes is premature under the Indenture's terms because HLTH continues to be in compliance with its obligations under the terms of the Indenture.

HLTH believes that it is not in default under the Indenture and will vigorously contest any attempt to declare an event of default under the Indenture based on the allegations set forth in the Notice Letter. HLTH does not expect the Notice Letter to affect its ability to complete the Proposed Merger or the timing thereof. As previously disclosed, under the Merger Agreement between HLTH and WebMD, WebMD will assume the obligations of HLTH under the Indenture at the effective time of the Proposed Merger.

A copy of the press release issued by HLTH regarding receipt of the Notice Letter is filed as Exhibit 99.1 to this Current Report and is incorporated herein by reference. In addition, the following are incorporated by reference into this Item 8.01 pursuant to General Instruction B.3 of Form 8-K:
