FUND DISTRIBUTIONS AND MANAGED DISTRIBUTION PLAN

The Fund has a Managed Distribution Plan to pay 7% of the Fund s net asset value on an annualized basis. Distributions may represent earnings from net investment income, realized capital gains, or, if necessary, return of capital. The board believes that regular monthly, fixed cash payouts will enhance shareholder value and serve the long-term interests of shareholders. You should not draw any conclusions about the Fund s investment performance from the amount of the distributions or from the terms of the Fund s Managed Distribution Plan.

The Fund has not distributed more than its income and net realized capital gains in the six months ended June 30, 2014 on a tax basis. Shareholders should note, however, that if the Fund s aggregate investment income and net realized capital gains are less than the amount of the distribution level, the difference will be paid from the Fund s capital and will constitute a return of the shareholder s capital. A return of capital may occur, for example, when some or all of the money that you invested in the Fund is paid back to you. A return of capital distribution does not necessarily reflect the Fund s investment performance and should not be confused with yield or income.

The amounts and sources of distributions reported in the Funds notices pursuant to Section 19(a) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 are only estimates and are not being provided for tax reporting purposes. The actual amounts and sources of the amounts for tax reporting purposes will depend upon the Funds investment experience during its fiscal year and may be subject to changes based on tax regulations. The Fund will send shareholders a Form 1099-DIV for 2014 that tells them how to report distributions for federal income tax purposes.

The Board may amend, suspend or terminate the Managed Distribution Plan at any time, without prior notice to shareholders if it deems such action to be in the best interest of the Fund and its shareholders.

Information on the Zweig funds is available at www.Virtus.com. Section 19(a) notices are posted on the website at: http://www.virtus.com/our-products/closed-end-fund-details/ZTR

MARKET OUTLOOK AND OVERVIEW

JUNE 30, 2014

Dear Shareholders,

With the first half of 2014 complete, the U.S. equity market has been grinding higher even in the face of a remarkably skeptical investing public. The exceedingly strong market that encompassed much of 2013 has evolved into a somewhat lower volume, insipid trading environment, but the market continues to make new highs and the bull market is still very much intact. While corporate earnings continue to exceed expectations, last year s surge in the broad market s price-to-earnings multiple has largely priced in prevailing forecasts. Nonetheless, the S&P 500 Index is higher on the year despite mixed economic data and geopolitical unrest.

We are pleased with the performance of the Zweig Total Return Fund thus far on the year, as it is ahead of the stated benchmark. Presently, the Fund is net 69% in stocks and 28% in fixed income. The fixed income allocation has increased somewhat since last year as we added to our bond holdings when the yield on the 10-year Treasury neared 2.80%. Although we are not bullish on bonds, we perceived increased relative opportunity with the back-up in yields. In addition, time gradually erodes the overall duration and maturity of our bond holdings, so we need to buy more bonds if we wish to keep duration unchanged. We opted to purchase spread product in the form of various investment grade corporate bonds.

The Fund is holding slightly more cash than at year-end, reflecting marginally increased caution. This slightly more defensive positioning was made in response to market internals looking less constructive than they had in the previous several quarters and some concern over geopolitical risks. Overall, we still believe that the market will likely advance and do not currently see enough deterioration in market technical factors to justify further caution.

We accurately ascertained that U.S. economic data would demonstrate a soft patch in growth resulting from the brutal winter experienced in much of the country. The weather-related narrative was quickly seized upon and widely accepted, and the S&P 500® continued to reach new highs. However, with the S&P trading at roughly 17 times next year s forecasted earnings, the economy needs to continue to show strength for a renewed push upward in stock prices.

Recent economic data has shown improvement both domestically and abroad. With the exception of first quarter U.S. gross domestic product (GDP) coming in even weaker than the diminished forecasts, generally we have observed stronger trends in job growth, purchasing manager surveys, manufacturing data, and overall industrial production. Housing remains stubbornly sluggish, which could be related to the one weak spot in employment: a reduction in the participation rate of the workforce. Generally, however, there is a clear reacceleration in global output as company surveys are improving, bank loans are increasing, and consumer spending has upticked. Another notable trend has been the remarkable reduction in bond yields among the peripheral European countries, which is indicative that investors are comfortable with taking on risk and believe policy makers have generally stabilized weaker economies.

Also of importance to the equity markets, first quarter earnings were better than expected, with more than 75% of S&P 500® companies posting positive surprises for the quarter. Early second quarter earnings reports have been very encouraging as well. At times during the first half of 2014 the market has shown some technical weakness, including fewer stocks making new highs or low volume trading patterns. Generally though, even technical factors are improving as of late, and it is hard to fight the tape.

One factor that has kept the portfolio from pushing equity exposure even higher is the geopolitical strife in both Ukraine and the Middle East. While we do not see this as a major deterrent to U.S. growth or corporate earnings, the unrest creates the potential for heightened investor caution and a strong reaction to reduce risk. While the human toll in these regional battles is tragic, as investors, we generally view any swift sell-offs as buying opportunities. Unless the U.S. economy shows signs of deterioration, or corporate profits slow, the health of the U.S. equity markets seems quite solid.

Looking into the Fund s holdings and portfolio analysis, the three lowest priced sectors based on price-to-forward earnings are financials, energy, and information technology. Ranked by forecasted long-term growth, the fastest developing areas of the market are consumer discretionary, information technology, and industrials. Basically, the fact that technology is both among the cheapest and fastest growing sectors has led us to increase our exposure to the group. There has been price strength in some of the old tech, and industry groups such as software and semiconductors have been performing well. We took the opportunity to add some software exposure, which is trading at a below-market multiple and offers very solid growth prospects. Enterprise software drives worker productivity gains, and increased corporate earnings rely on productivity increases. Furthermore, the correlation between GDP and software spending is high, and with global growth finally reaccelerating, there is opportunity for increased earnings in database and application software. We also added to our semiconductor exposure.

Although the consumer discretionary sector exhibits solid growth, we find that retailing in general has been challenged despite the recent pick-up in real consumer spending. The discretionary space was among the top-performing sectors for the last two years, and we did well with our stock picks in the first half of 2014; however, it was time to cut back given the recent deterioration in relative performance, and overall we have become slightly more cautious on the group.

The financials sector has been harmed by the recent drop in 10-year Treasury yields and the flattening of the yield curve. The somewhat surprising weakness in housing has also been a drag on regional banks. We decided to trim some of our exposure to banks as net interest margins have not improved as we had hoped, and the earning picture looks fuzzy. For the financials group as a whole, the valuation still looks very compelling on a relative basis, and we are sticking with our holdings in asset managers. There are very few areas of the market that are truly cheap, but financials have the lowest price-to-forward earnings expectations of any sector.

Over the past few years, we have achieved superior stock picking in the health care sector, due in large part to a significant weight in biotech. Paradoxically, we have also held lower relative exposure to the sector, mainly because of the difficulty in finding names that fit our investment parameters. We are beginning to see better growth in value metrics, as health care expenditures have continued to increase regardless of policy measures or a general desire to curtail spending. Revenue growth and innovations in the industry have driven earnings higher, and now a plethora of mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity has made it a hot investment arena. We continue to look for names within this sector as the bull market matures.

A year ago, utilities, telecom, and consumer staples were overvalued, which led to a year of underperformance for these sectors. Recently, this trend has reversed, and we are beginning to find some value in these areas. We already hold several high-dividend names and are selectively adding to positions when there are chances to do so. Furthermore, with interest rates declining in the recent period, the relative attractiveness of the high-dividend groups has increased. These sectors also act as a buffer during market tumult, and given the current uncertainties, we believe it prudent to adjust our holdings.

Roughly a third of the portfolio s equity exposure resides within the three late-cycle arenas of the market: industrials, energy, and materials. Although we have been cautious on the very deep value area of metals and mining, we have done very well in the industrial complex as a whole. Industrial production continues to rise and global growth seems to be accelerating, which should benefit all three of these cyclical sectors. Furthermore, as noted above, energy is one of the three least expensive sectors, especially in light of continued $100-a-barrel oil and rising natural gas prices. Industrials are one of the fastest long-term growth stories, and with the U.S. energy price advantage, there are solid earnings prospects.

Turning to fixed income, we noted that the market was confronted with mildly disappointing early first quarter economic data and uncertainty related to the economic impact of the Fed policy shift. Yields on the 10-year Treasury fell to their lowest level since October, which is certainly one of the surprises of 2014. We had taken the opportunity early in the year, with the back-up in the 10-year Treasury yield to roughly 3%, to increase our fixed income exposure, specifically corporate bonds. This move has been beneficial, as overall yields have fallen. We do not see the 10-year note s present yield of 2.5% as sufficiently compelling to further increase our exposure.

Last year, our fixed income holdings were well positioned for the dramatic sell-off in bonds, and our overall duration of less than two years allowed us to fare better than most bond managers. During the initial rise in rates, inflation expectations were declining, which caused the Treasury Inflation Protected Securities (TIPS) in the portfolio to underperform plain Treasuries. Since that time, inflation expectations have begun to pick up, which has benefited the TIPS. The 10-year note s move to 3% on the back of better economic data proved to be a good entry point to increase our bond holdings. Furthermore, high grade bonds are acting as a hedge against stock market gyrations, and we believe, given the recent volatility in equities, it is prudent for the Fund to hold somewhat more fixed income. This does not mean we are bullish on bonds by any means; however, with our duration at about two years, we are just not as negative as we once were.

(Selected data for a share outstanding throughout each period)

- (1) Closing Price New York Stock Exchange.
- (2) Total investment return is calculated assuming a purchase of a share of the Fund s common stock at the opening NYSE share price on the first business day and a sale at the closing NYSE share price on the last business day of each period reported. Dividends and distributions, if any, are assumed for the purpose of this calculation, to be reinvested at prices obtained under the Fund s Automatic Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan. Generally, total investment return based on net asset value will be higher than total investment return based on market value in periods where there is an increase in the discount or a decrease in the premium of the market value to the net assets from the beginning to the end of such years. Conversely, total investment return based on net asset value will be lower than total investment return based on market value in periods where there is a decrease in the discount or an increase in the premium of the market value to the net asset value from the beginning to the end of such periods.
- (3) Computed using average shares outstanding
- (4) Amount is less than $0.005.
- (5) NAV Return is calculated using the opening Net Asset Value price of the Fund s common stock on the first business day and the closing Net Asset Value price of the Fund s common stock on the last business day of each period reported. Dividends and distributions, if any, are assumed for the purpose of this calculation, to be reinvested at prices obtained under the Fund s Automatic Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan.
- (6) Shares were sold at a 5% discount from a 5 day average market price from 1/3/11 to 1/7/11.
- <sup>(7)</sup> Total investment return includes the dilutive effect of the 2011 rights offering. Without this effect, the total investment return would have been (2.59)%.
- (8) The Fund had a 1:4 reverse stock split with ex-dividend date of June 27, 2012. Prior year net asset values and per share amounts have been restated to reflect the impact of the reverse stock split (See Note 8). The net asset value and market price reported at the original dates prior to the reverse stock split were as follows:

For the Years Ended December 31,	2011	2010	2009
Net Asset Value (prior to reverse stock split)	$ 3.57	$ 3.99	$4.13
Market Price (prior to reverse stock split)	$ 3.03	$ 3.56	$ 3.91

- (9) The fund incurred certain non-recurring proxy and reverse stock split costs in 2012. When excluding these costs, the Ratio of expenses to average net assets (after expense waivers) would be 0.87% and the Ratio of expenses to average net assets (before expense waivers) would be 1.01%.
- (10) Annualized.
- (11) Not annualized.
- (12) Please note the tax status of distributions is determined at the end of the taxable year.
- (13) Ratio of expenses, excluding dividends on short sales and interest expense was 0.99% for the period ended June 30, 2014.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

JUNE 30, 2014 (Unaudited)

Note 1. Organization

The Zweig Total Return Fund, Inc. (the Fund ) is a closed-end, diversified management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the Act ). The Fund was incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland on July 21, 1988. The Fund s investment objective is to seek total return, consisting of capital appreciation and income.

Note 2. Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of increases and decreases in net assets from operations during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates and those differences could be significant.

A. Security Valuation:

Security valuation procedures for the Fund, which include nightly price variance, as well as back-testing such as bi-weekly unchanged price, monthly secondary source and transaction analysis, have been approved by the Board of Directors. All internally fair valued securities are approved by a valuation committee appointed by the Board. The Valuation Committee is comprised of certain members of management as identified by the Board, and convenes independently from portfolio management. All internally fair valued securities, referred to below, are updated daily and reviewed in detail by the valuation committee monthly unless changes occur within the period. The valuation committee reviews the validity of the model inputs and any changes to the model. Internal fair valuations are ratified by the Board of Directors at least quarterly.

The Fund utilizes a fair value hierarchy which prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels.

Level 1 quoted prices in active markets for identical securities

Level 2 prices determined using other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.)

Level 3 prices determined using significant unobservable inputs (including the valuation committee s own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

A description of the valuation techniques applied to the Fund s major categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis is as follows:

Equity securities are valued at the official closing price (typically last sale) on the exchange on which the securities are primarily traded, or if no closing price is available, at the last bid price and are categorized as Level 1 in the hierarchy. Restricted equity securities and private placements that are not widely traded, are illiquid or are internally fair valued by the valuation committee are generally categorized as Level 3 in the hierarchy.

Certain non-U.S. securities may be fair valued in cases where closing prices are not readily available or are deemed not reflective of readily available market prices. For example, significant events (such as movement in the U.S. securities market, or other regional and local developments) may occur between the time that non-U.S. markets close (where the security is principally traded) and the time that a Fund calculates its net asset value ( NAV ) (generally, 4 p.m. Eastern time the close of the New York Stock Exchange ( NYSE )) that may impact the value of securities traded in these non-U.S. markets. In such cases the Funds fair value non-U.S. securities using an independent pricing service which considers the correlation of the trading patterns of the non-U.S. security to the intraday trading in the U.S. markets for investments such as ADRs, financial futures, exchange-traded funds ( ETFs ), and certain indexes as well as prices for similar securities. Such fair valuations are categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy. Because the frequency of significant events is not predictable, fair valuation of certain non-U.S. common stocks may occur on a frequent basis.

Debt securities, including restricted securities, are valued based on evaluated quotations received from independent pricing services or from dealers who make markets in such securities. For most bond types, the pricing service utilizes matrix pricing which considers yield or price of bonds of comparable quality, coupon, maturity, current cash flows, type, and current day trade information, as well as dealer supplied prices. These valuations are generally categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy. Structured debt instruments such as mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities may also incorporate collateral analysis and utilize cash flow models for valuation and are generally categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy. Pricing services do not provide pricing for all securities and therefore dealer supplied prices are utilized representing indicative bids based on pricing models used by market makers in the security and are generally categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy. Debt securities that are not widely traded, are illiquid, or are internally fair valued by the valuation committee are generally categorized as Level 3 in the hierarchy.

Listed derivatives, such as options, that are actively traded are valued based on quoted prices from the exchange and are categorized as Level 1 in the hierarchy. Over the counter (OTC) derivative contracts, which include forward currency contracts and equity linked instruments are valued based on inputs observed from actively quoted markets and are categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy.

Investments in open-end mutual funds are valued at NAV. Investment in closed-end mutual funds are valued as of the close of regular trading on the NYSE, generally 4 p.m. Eastern, each business day. Both are categorized as Level 1 in the hierarchy.

Short-term notes having a remaining maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market, and are generally categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy.

A summary of the inputs used to value the Fund s major categories of assets and liabilities, which primarily include investments of the Fund, by each major security type is disclosed at the end of the Schedule of Investments for the Fund. The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

B. Security Transactions and Investment Income:

Security transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized gains and losses from sales of securities are determined on the identified cost basis. Dividend income is recognized on the ex-dividend date, or in the case of certain foreign securities, as soon as the Fund is notified. Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. The Fund amortizes premiums and accretes discounts using the effective interest method.

C. Federal Income Taxes:

The Fund is treated as a separate taxable entity. It is the Fund s intention to comply with the requirements of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no provision for federal income taxes or excise taxes has been made.

The Fund may be subject to foreign taxes on income, gains on investments or currency repatriation, a portion of which may be recoverable. The Fund will accrue such taxes and recoveries as applicable based upon current interpretations of the tax rules and regulations that exist in the markets in which it invests.

Management of the Fund has concluded that there are no significant uncertain tax positions that would require recognition in the financial statements. As of June 30, 2014, the tax years that remain subject to examination by the major tax jurisdictions under the statute of limitations are from the year 2010 forward (with limited exceptions).

D. Dividends and Distributions to Shareholders:

Distributions are recorded by the Fund on the ex-dividend date. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These differences may include the treatment of non-taxable dividends, market premium and discount, non-deductible expenses, foreign currency gain or loss, operating losses and losses deferred due to wash sales. Permanent book and tax basis differences relating to shareholder distributions will result in reclassifications to capital paid in on shares of beneficial interest.

The Fund has a Managed Distribution Plan to pay 7 percent of the Fund s net asset value (NAV) on an annualized basis. Distributions may represent earnings from net investment income, realized capital gains, or, if necessary, return of capital. Shareholders should not draw any conclusions about the Fund s investment performance from the terms of the Fund s Managed Distribution Plan.

E. Foreign Currency Translation:

Non U.S. investment securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollar amounts at the foreign currency exchange rate effective at the end of the reporting period. Cost of investments is translated at the currency exchange rate effective at the trade date. The gain or loss resulting from a change in currency exchange rates between the trade and settlement date of a portfolio transaction is treated as a gain or loss on foreign currency. Likewise, the gain or loss resulting from a change in currency exchange rates between the date income is accrued and paid is treated as a gain or loss on foreign currency. The Fund does not isolate that portion of the results of operations arising from changes in foreign exchange rates on investments from the fluctuations arising from changes in the market prices of securities held. Such fluctuations are included with the net realized and unrealized gain or loss on investments.

F. Short Sales:

A short sale is a transaction in which the Fund sells a security it does not own in anticipation of a decline in market price. To sell a security short, the Fund must borrow the security. The Fund s obligation to replace the security borrowed and sold short will be fully collateralized at all times by the proceeds from the short sale retained by the broker and by cash and securities deposited in a segregated account with the Fund s custodian. If the price of the security sold short increases between the time of the short sale and the time the Fund replaces the borrowed security, the Fund will realize a loss, and if the price declines during the period, the Fund will realize a gain. Any realized gain will be decreased by, and any realized loss increased by, the amount of transaction costs. Dividends on short sales are recorded as an expense to the Fund on ex-dividend date. Short selling used in the management of the Fund may accelerate the velocity of potential losses if the prices of securities sold short appreciate quickly. Stocks purchased may decline in value at the same time stocks sold short may appreciate in value, thereby increasing potential losses.

Note 7. Reverse Stock Split

Prior to the opening of trading on the NYSE on June 27, 2012, the Fund implemented a 1 for 4 reverse stock split. The Fund s shares are trading on a reverse split-adjusted basis under a new CUSIP number (989837208). The net effect of the Fund s reverse stock split was to decrease the number of the Fund s outstanding common shares and increase the net asset value per common share by a proportionate amount. While the number of the Fund s outstanding common shares declined, neither the Fund s holdings nor the total value of shareholders investments were affected. Immediately after the reverse stock split, each common shareholder held the same percentage of the Fund s outstanding common shares that he or she held immediately prior to the reverse stock split, subject to adjustments for fractional shares resulting from the split. Per share data, including the proportionate impact to market price, in the Financial Highlights table has been restated to reflect the reverse stock split.

Note 9. Credit Risk and Asset Concentrations

In countries with limited or developing markets, investments may present greater risks than in more developed markets and the prices of such investments may be volatile. The consequences of political, social or economic changes in these markets may have disruptive effects on the market prices of these investments and the income they generate, as well as the Fund sability to repatriate such amounts.

The Fund may invest a high percentage of its assets in specific sectors of the market in its pursuit of a greater investment return. Fluctuations in these sectors of concentration may have a greater impact on the Fund, positive or negative, than if the Fund did not concentrate its investments in such sectors.

Note 10. Regulatory Exams

Federal and state regulatory authorities from time to time make inquiries and conduct examinations regarding compliance by Virtus and its subsidiaries (collectively the Company) with securities and other laws and regulations affecting their registered products.

There are currently no such matters which the Company believes will be material to these financial statements.

losses. Previously, net capital losses were carried forward for eight years and treated as short-term losses. As a transition rule, the RIC Mod Act requires post-enactment net capital losses be used before pre-enactment net capital losses.

The Fund may not realize the benefit of these losses to the extent it does not realize gains on investments prior to the expiration of capital loss carryovers. In addition under certain conditions, the Fund may lose the benefit of these losses to the extent that distributions to shareholders exceed required distribution amounts as defined under the Internal Revenue Code. Shareholders may also pay additional taxes on these excess distributions.

Management has evaluated the impact of all subsequent events on the Fund through the date the financial statements were issued, and has determined that there are no subsequent events that require recognition or disclosure in these financial statements.

BOARD CONSIDERATION AND APPROVAL OF #### INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT

Pursuant to Section 15(c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 1940 Act), if an investment advisory agreement between an investment company and its investment adviser is to continue beyond its initial term, its board of directors, including a majority of the directors who have no direct or indirect interest in the investment advisory agreement and are not interested persons as defined in the 1940 Act, of the investment company, must review and approve the terms of the agreement at least annually.

During the most recent six month period covered by this report, the Board of Directors (the Board ) of The Zweig Total Return Fund, Inc. (the Fund ), including a majority of the Directors who have no direct or indirect interest in the investment advisory agreement and are not interested persons of the Fund (the Independent Directors ), approved the continuance of the Fund s investment advisory agreement (the Advisory Agreement ) with Zweig Advisers LLC (the Adviser ).

Specifically, at a telephonic meeting held on January 27, 2014, the Independent Directors discussed a draft response from the Adviser to a request from independent legal counsel to the Independent Directors for information relevant to the annual review of the Advisory Agreement, and following that meeting certain supplementary information was obtained from the Adviser as part of the review process. Thereafter, at an in-person meeting held on February 6, 2014, the Board, including the Independent Directors, considered the factors and reached the conclusions described below relating to the Adviser and the terms of the Advisory Agreement. The Independent Directors were guided by their independent legal counsel throughout the review and approval process.

- 1. Nature, Extent and Quality of Services. The Board considered the nature, extent and quality of the services performed by the Adviser, including portfolio management, supervision of Fund operations and compliance and regulatory filings and disclosures to shareholders, general oversight of other service providers, oversight and management of Fund legal issues, assistance to the Directors in fulfilling their duties in that role and other services. The Directors concluded that the services are extensive in nature and that the Adviser delivered an acceptable level of service.
- 2. Investment Performance of the Fund and Adviser. The Board considered the investment performance for the Fund over various periods of time as compared to that of its performance group and performance universe as selected by Lipper, Inc., an independent provider of investment company data (Lipper), at the request of the Independent Directors. The Board considered, among other performance data, that the Fund outperformed the median of its Performance Universe for the 1- and 3-year periods and underperformed for the 5-year period ended December 31, 2013, and that the Fund outperformed its benchmark for the 1-year period and underperformed its benchmark for the 3- and 5-year periods.

The Directors concluded that the Adviser was delivering acceptable performance results consistent with the long-term investment strategies being pursued by the Fund.

- 3. Costs of Services and Profits Realized by the Adviser.
- (a) Costs of Services to Funds: Fees and Expenses. The Board considered the Funds s management fee rate and expense ratio relative to the Funds Lipper expense group. The Board noted that the Funds net management fee was below and net total expenses were below the median of the Expense Group.

The Board concluded that the management fee is acceptable based upon the qualifications, experience, reputation and performance of the Adviser. The Board also concluded that the expense ratio of the Fund was within an acceptable range relative to its Lipper expense group.

(b) Profitability and Costs of Services to Adviser. The Board considered the Adviser s overall profitability and costs. The Board concluded that the Adviser s profitability was at an acceptable level in light of the nature, extent and quality of the services being provided to the Fund.

4. Extent of Economies of Scale as Fund Grows and Whether Fee Levels Reflect Economies of Scale. The Directors considered whether there have been material economies of scale with respect to the management of the Fund and whether the Adviser has shared with the Fund any material economies of scale. The Board noted that economies of scale may develop for certain funds as their assets increase and their fixed fund-level expenses decline as a percentage of assets, but that closed-end funds such as the Fund typically do not have the ability to increase substantially their asset base as do open-end funds. The Directors concluded that the Fund has not experienced material unshared economies of scale.

The Directors also considered whether the management fee rate is reasonable in relation to the asset size of the Fund and whether any economies of scale exist at that size. They concluded that, given the Fund s closed-end structure, the management fee was reasonable in relation to the asset size of the fund. At the same time, the Directors agreed that it would be appropriate to monitor this issue in the event that the assets of the Fund were to increase substantially via a secondary or rights offering, capital appreciation, reinvested dividends, the use of leverage or some other means.

5. Other Relevant Considerations.

- (a) Adviser Personnel and Methods. The Directors considered the size, education and experience of the Adviser s staff, its fundamental research capabilities and approach to attracting and retaining portfolio managers and other research and management personnel, and concluded that, in each of these areas, the staff was structured in such a way to support the level of services being provided to the Fund.
- (b) Other Benefits to the Adviser. The Directors also considered the character and amount of other incidental benefits received by the Adviser and its affiliates from their association with the Fund. The Directors concluded that potential fall-out benefits that they may receive, such as greater name recognition or increased ability to obtain research or brokerage services, appear to be reasonable and may, in some cases, benefit the Fund.

Conclusions

In considering the Advisory Agreement, the Independent Directors did not identify any one factor as all-important or all-controlling and instead considered such factors collectively in light of the Fund s surrounding circumstances. Based on this review, it was the judgment of the Independent Directors that the continuance of the Advisory Agreement was in the best interests of the Fund and its shareholders. As a part of their decision-making process, the Independent Directors noted their belief that a long-term relationship with a capable, conscientious adviser is in the best interests of the Fund. The Independent Directors considered, generally, that shareholders invested in a Fund knowing that the Adviser managed that Fund and knowing the Adviser s investment management fee schedule. As such, the Independent Directors considered, in particular, whether the Adviser managed the Fund in accordance with its investment objectives and policies as disclosed to shareholders, and concluded that the Fund was so managed.

Upon conclusion of their review and discussion, the Board, including the Independent Directors, unanimously approved the continuance of the Advisory Agreement.
